118 Reach Island After Sealer Sinks

GIRL OPERATOR SENDS DETAILS BY WIRELESS

At Least 20 Lives Lost as Result of Explosion Aboard Craft
FIGHT WITH ICE FLOES
Many Survivors Badly Injured and Ill—Lack Medical Care

St. Johns, N. F. — (AP) — Succor raced through ice-choked White bay today for the 118 known survivors of the barkentine Viking which exploded at sea Sunday night.

The number of presumed dead stood at between 20 and 25. The known missing were 8 — including Varick Frissell of New York, who was aboard to make "shots" for a movie of the sealing industry. A. E. Penrod of Waterbury, Conn., cameraman and Harry Sargent, explorer who was cast as the film "villain" in the Frissell picture. Others missing were the wireless operator, the navigator, cook, steward and the boatswain. The mate of the Viking was on the ice with a broken leg.

The 118 known survivors, including Capt. Abram Kean, Jr., reached Home Island last night, walking ashore across the ice. The condition of the captain, who was blown from the bridge of the Viking to the ice when the ship exploded, was believed serious. Injury among the others was not believed great, although all were in need of the food and warmth to be provided with the arrival about 1 o'clock p. m. today of the rescue ship carrying doctors and nurses. The first ship to reach the scene was the sealing steamer Ungava.

Dory Fights Ice

A report from the wireless station at Home Island said a dory had been seen about four or five miles off shore at daylight, making very slow progress through the ice pack. Seven men were in the dory, five apparently seriously hurt.

Miss O. Bartlett, the 18-year-old wireless operator on the island, reported it as doubtful that the dory would be able to make shore.

Despite the combined efforts of the Viking's owners (Bovring Brothers, Ltd.), the Newfoundland government, wireless companies and press associations, details of the disaster remained meagre at noon today. It was only then that the first direct word from Capt. Kean began coming in over the government wireless here from the island.

Blocked From Fleet

Invariably the sealing fleet moves about in its quest for seals together. On this occasion, however, the Viking had been left behind, the fleet having passed through the Strait of Belle Isle into the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The strait, now jammed with ice, rendered succor from the fleet very doubtful. Word at noon, however, said the sealing steamer Ungava had reached spot off Home Island, indicating that she had been able to force her way through the ice.

There are only five houses on Home Island— inadequate quarters to accommodate 118 hungry, chilled and weather-weakened survivors of disaster. No medical supplies were aboard. One message said the absence of medical aid "is severely felt."

Cause Not Given

The belief among shipping men familiar with the construction of the Viking was that Frissell, Penrod and Sargent doubtless were quarreled off, when the explosion was hardest felt. It is true that the Viking was a strain on the boilers, putting on so much steam as to result in an explosion.

One explanation that received credence was that the Viking, seeking to pound its way through the ice, was a strain on the boilers, putting on so much steam as to result in an explosion.

Because of the limited wireless facilities and the remoteness of Home Island, the Bovring company as yet has been unable to check its list of those aboard the Viking against a list of names of those on the island.

The Viking, an auxiliary barkentine, was 50 years old; one of the hardy craft of the fleet which year after year searches the seas off the Labrador coast for seal. For many years it was under the company of Capt. William Bartlett, who first hunted seals with it in 1881. It was practically the sailing home of Capt. Bartlett, the master's son who later commanded the ship used by Commander Robert E. Peary in his discovery of the North pole.

In Sea Tragedy

Above is Varick Frissell, head of an Arctic motion picture expedition in which at least 20 men lost their lives, according to first reports, when their whaling ship, Viking, blew up off the coast of Newfoundland. They were engaged in making a talking film.

COMMUNISTS TAUNT GANDHI AT BOMBAY

Reds Accuse Mahatma of Betraying Workers in His Campaign

Bombay, India. — (AP) — Mahatma Gandhi, accustomed to adulation and worship, and commanding the respect even of his British antagonists, last night heard jeers, hoots, hisses and catcalls for a labor audience which he was about to address.

Communists taunted him with failure to provide for release of labor agitators in his truce with Lord Irwin which led to abandonment of the civil disobedience campaign, and charged him with betraying the workers.

"Down with Gandhi," they shouted. "Down with the national congress! Down with British imperialism!"

They tore down the National flag on the platform where Gandhi sat, amazed and bewildered, and replaced it with a flaming red banner. Nationalist volunteers fought with Communists for a few minutes and replaced the red flag with the Nationalist emblem.

SUGAR BEET GROWERS FORM ASSOCIATION

Chilton. — (AP) — Meeting here last night, 150 sugar beet growers organized the Calumet Co-operative Beet Growers' association, the first local organization of its kind in Wisconsin.

A committee of five signed articles of incorporation which were to be filed in Madison today. The group plans to hold a meeting March 24 for election of directors.

Prior to the organization, the meeting heard a report from a committee of growers to the effect that it appeared unlikely that the Menominee River Sugar company would be able to pay the 50 to 60 cents bonus per ton promised on beets last season. The president of the company, offered to permit an audit of the company's books to show the concern's financial condition. The committee suggested an audit could determine if legal action to collect the bonus were justified.

WON'T CONSIDER MORATORIUM

London. — (AP) — An emphatic no was the reply of F. W. Pethick-Lawrence, financial secretary of the treasury to a question in the house of commons today as to whether, in view of the present financial situation, the government would consider a ten-year moratorium in the payment of Britain's debt interest and obligations to the United States.

VOTE PROBE OF CHARGES MADE IN EDITORIAL

Assembly Inquires Into Attack on Two Members in Utility Debate

Madison. — (AP) — The state assembly today ordered an investigation of charges made by John B. Chapple, managing editor of the Ashland Daily Press, against two assemblymen in connection with a pending utility tax bill.

The investigation was provoked by an editorial appearing in the press which assailed the attitude of Assemblymen Robert Nixon, Washburn, and Arthur Hitt. Alms, for their attitude toward the Groves bill to tax utilities on a regional rate. Mr. Chapple is opposing the bill as unfair to northern Wisconsin.

Both Nixon and Hitt were assailed by conservative leaders in the lower house "for taking childish recourse" in the controversy and for "bothering the assembly with personal matters." Yesterday Assemblyman Nixon read the Press editorial and assailed Chapple for statements which the former termed "grossly false."

Assemblyman Moulton Goff, Sturgeon Bay, introduced the resolution for the investigation. It said "the charges are of such a serious nature that their truth or falsity should be determined," and authorized the assembly judiciary committee to proceed with an investigation.

AMENDMENT REJECTED

Assemblyman Charles Budlong, Marinette, offered an amendment, "inasmuch as Mr. Nixon is chairman of the judiciary committee" that the committee on public welfare investigate the charges. This was rejected when Nixon said he would not sit on the committee, and after assemblyman Goff had explained that a committee composed of attorneys would handle the case more satisfactorily.

Opposing the resolution, Assemblyman Frederick Krez, Sheboygan, said, "I do not agree that it is a matter of concern to the assembly when something which pricks the vanity of one of our members occurs. I am not hurt, and I am sure many of us are not affected by this occurrence."

Assemblyman Budlong said: "If during my experience in the assembly I had brought all troubles of this nature to the assembly."

GORDON MURDER STORY FALSE, MAN CONFESSES

New York. — (AP) — Another "lead" in the Vivian Gordon murder mystery dissolved into thin air today. A man who named to police two men he said committed the murder broke down and admitted he concocted the story in the hope of selling it to newspapers.

At first the informant said he was George Hennessey but later gave his name as Teddy Spanish. His first story was that the day before the red-haired wife's body was found in a park with a noose about the neck, he met "two Italians."

The Italians told him that if he had any messages for Miss Gordon he should deliver them at once, because "she is leaving town tonight."

Despite Spanish's repudiation of the story, District Attorney McLaughlin said he would seek to hold him as a material witness.

16 LABORERS ABSENT, M'DONALD IS BEATEN

London. — (AP) — The Labor government today blamed lax party discipline for a defeat in the commons last night on a minor clause of the electoral reform bill, 246 to 242. The defeat brought cries of "resign! resign!"

The ministry will not resign, but steps will be taken to insure members being in their seats for future divisions. Absence of 16 unpaired labor members last night may be called officially to attention of their constituents.

The presence of the 16 would have prevented the government defeat, but it would not have prevented a break between Sir John Simon, insurgent Liberal, and his party leader, David Lloyd George, who thus was unable to throw his entire party to the support of the government.

Six Guards Ambushed In St. Louis Labor Dispute

Four Wounded as They Engage in Battle With Hundred Attackers

St. Louis. — (AP) — About 100 men armed with shotguns and revolvers ambushed six guards of the Phillips Pipe Line company today as they drove along a Hog Haven road to escort laborers to the tanks of the company, and wounded four of the guards in a gun battle.

The attack was attributed to labor troubles, as the tanks of the pipe line company are being erected by the Chicago Bridge and Iron company, under an "open shop" policy.

At the guards' all special deputy sheriffs, traveling in three automobiles about 100 yards apart, entered a ravine between two railroad embankments about 25 automobiles appeared from a side road.

"The cars began to circle around us Indian fashion," said Jack Johnson, chief special deputy who was treated for gunshot wounds in the leg. "I stepped out and said 'Don't come any further boys. Stay off this road' and they opened fire. Some of them fired from their cars. Others got behind trees. As our two other cars arrived we all jumped behind them and fired back from behind them. About 400 shots were fired, the shooting lasting about 12 minutes, but those of us who were wounded were shot in the first volley."

"We couldn't tell whether we hit the other men or not. They drove off in an automobile truck appearing."

The other guards wounded were Thomas J. McMurray, who received pellets in the legs and hips, Clarence Watkins, a pellet under the left eye, and Ernest Goff, shot gun pellets in the back.

The attack occurred on the Illinois side of the Mississippi. After the truck passed the attacking party got into their cars, the guards related, and drove off toward Cahokia, yelling "scabs, scabs, scabs," and cursing and firing into the air.

ASSEMBLY FAILS IN MOVE TO RUSH WORK

Madison. — (AP) — The attempt to hold Monday afternoon sessions of the state assembly today appeared doomed to failure, assemblymen having refused to conduct business even though the house convened.

As measures on the crowded calendar were laid aside, one after another, yesterday, Assemblyman L. S. Shauger, Conservative, demanded that such "horseplay" be stopped and won an adjournment. The vote was 31 to 37.

The Perry bill for the creation of municipal power districts, was engrossed by voice vote.

The Krez utility bill, providing that income from a municipally-owned utility which is in excess of that used for operating expenses may be used to establish a trust fund, was engrossed.

FORMER PUBLISHER DIES

Milwaukee. — (AP) — William H. Park, 75, owner and publisher of the old Milwaukee Daily News from 1888 to 1918 died at his home here today. He had been ill of pneumonia for four weeks.

U. S. FILES TAX LIEN AGAINST ESTATE OF WALTER B. HEINEMAN

Madison. — (AP) — A tax lien seeking to collect federal income taxes since 1927 amounting to $36,865 against the estate of the late Walter B. Heineman, Wausau lumberman, who died last year, was filed in U. S. district court here today by A. H. Wilkinson, collector of internal revenue at Milwaukee.

The lien is for taxes due the government for the years 1927, 1928, 1929, and for about six months of 1930. The income taxes due the government, plus interest and penalties for each year were listed on the lien as follows:

For 1927, $27,316; for 1928, $25,658; for 1929, $37,285, and for Jan. 1 to July 17, 1930, $5,496.

Ireland, In Festive Mood, Observes St. Patrick Day

Dublin, Irish Free State. — (AP) — Residents of the Saorstát and kindred souls in the northern counties today celebrated St. Patrick day with nationwide religious ceremonies, civic programs, sporting contests and feasts and dancing which may last until tomorrow morning.

A religious hour legislative omission prevented the shamrock in good Irish whiskey, but for those who did not live too far away into Ulster where restrictions closing public houses on Saint Patrick's day do not hold.

CLOSE FIGHTS AT PRIMARIES IN MANY CITIES

Racine, Green Bay, Sheboygan and La Crosse See Mayoralty Races

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Contests in scores of Wisconsin municipalities reached one climax at the polls today as citizens voted in the spring primaries. Heavy balloting was expected in many places.

But even the balloting, counting, and announcing of the winners will be preliminary to a grand climax, in the local elections of April 7.

Interest centers largely on the mayoralty contests in Racine, Green Bay, Sheboygan and La Crosse, but in Barron the prohibition question is an issue as five villages and 25 towns vote on dry ordinances. Douglas and Bayfield counties were voting on referendums calling for the substitution of the commission form of government for the present county board system.

In Racine, Mayor William H. Armstrong faces a strong movement to destroy his power by defeating his supporters in the city council. In the old wards, all but one of Armstrong's adherents are seeking reelection, and one of his supporters is a candidate to replace the man not running.

Armstrong has been the center of several fights during his present term of office, his fourth.

Four candidates are seeking mayoralty honors in Sheboygan, Green Bay and La Crosse. A last-minute attempt to defeat Mayor Georgeson of Manitowish was being made by supporters of Alderman Peter Anderson, who, name they ask voters to write in on the ballot.

Forty candidates seek 18 offices in Kenosha, while in Fond du Lac, 14 aspire to be named to two city council vacancies.

Mrs. Emma Paver, who gained prominence several years ago through her stand in a sewer controversy, is running for alderman at Menasha. In the sewer fight, Mrs. Paver armed herself with a pick and shovel and stood off workmen who attempted to run a trench through her property.

The Rev. Herman Stuebing, who gave up his ministry for a sailing ship and now seeks political recognition, is a candidate for municipal judge in Sheboygan.

SCHROEDER BEGINS TO SERVE PRISON TERM

Indianapolis, Ind. — (AP) — Harold Herbert Schroeder was taken to the Michigan City state prison today by automobile, to serve a 2 to 21 years sentence for voluntary manslaughter for the death of an unidentified hitch hiker near here last spring.

An arson indictment against Schroeder was dismissed in criminal court yesterday by Herbert E. Willing, prosecutor. The body of the unknown man was found in Schroeder's burned automobile.

Wilson hinted Schroeder might have to serve the maximum of his sentence.

"In applying for parole," he said, "the man convicted of voluntary manslaughter must have the signature of the prosecutor who convicted him, the prison board has ruled. I don't intend to sign any application for his parole very soon."

WORK TO CONSOLIDATE VETERANS' ACTIVITIES

Washington. — (AP) — Laying down a plan for consolidation of veterans activities in the different areas whenever feasible, the veterans bureau announced today that wherever possible soldiers home units would be built in connection with existing hospitals instead of as separate units.

The board of hospitalization made the announcement in making known plans for construction in the north-west Pacific states.

Congress at the last session authorized $20,800,000 for soldiers homes and hospitals. The Pacific coast projects will cost $2,100,000. The remainder is yet to be allocated.

ROBBER WHO SHOT COP KILLED IN MONTANA

Missoula, Mont. — (AP) — Aleck Ross, merchant policeman, and Eddie Carnigan of Great Falls, whom he had arrested for burglary, were killed last night when Carnigan turned on his captor and was shot in turn down by police.

Ross was taking Carnigan and Eddie Keim of Butte, to the police station, when Carnigan turned and shot Ross in the stomach. Carnigan attempted to hide under an automobile but police who arrived within a few minutes fired a volley under the car and the robber was killed outright. Ross died in a hospital within a short time.

Keim, who escaped during the battle, was recaptured.

BULLETIN

Joliet, Ill. — (AP) — The prison band of the new Stateville penitentiary engaged in a private insurrection of its own today and when the din ended five convicts went to the emergency hospital for treatment.

The seventeen players had fought among themselves over the suggestion of one of their number that a riot be instigated. The convicts beat each other with clubs, and five were hurt badly enough to require hospital attention.

Deputy Warden Frank Kneff said he had been warned that the chair factory at the new prison was to be bombed at 10 o'clock a. m. Extra guards were posted, however, and the attack did not materialize.

Aged Indian, Last Of His Tribe, Dies

Escanaba, Mich. — (AP) — Jimmie Kishketog, last surviving member of the Chippewa Indian tribe that once held dominion over a vast territory bordering Munising bay, is dead.

Word was received here that the aged guardian of Ojibway tribal lore passed on to the happy hunting grounds last week while confined to the state hospital at Newberry. His age was fixed at over 90 years, for "Jimmie" could not recall the year of his birth.

Authorities at Newberry have declared that the body will be sent to Ann Arbor for study at a clinic, but a movement is now under way to bring the remains back to Munising for burial at the site of the deserted Indian village where hundreds of his forefathers are interred.

It was said of Kishketog that he could build a wigwam in an hour's time out of cedar, spruce and birch bark; that he knew all the deer trails in the vicinity, and that he was unexcelled in the art of making Chippewa snowshoes and tanning hides.

In his prime he was a great hunter. When the town of Munising was started 35 years ago, Kishketog was often employed by the white men to show them the best hunting grounds. He performed the service for a pittance, a meal, a dollar, or a few drinks of firewater.

As the hunting became scarce, and the game wardens more watchful, Kishketog went to live alone in a log shack that had been the home of his father. A few years ago the county poor commission decided he should be taken to the Alger-Croft infirmary. He protested, but was finally taken into the institution on a ruse.

Broken by years of lonely brooding Kishketog's mind began to wander in the inmate of the infirmary. He imagined he was in his wigwam, and when he started fires in his room to keep warm, authorities decided to send him to the state hospital for the insane, where death came a few weeks later.

ENTIRE CABINET OF THOMPSON RESIGNS

Move Made to Give Chicago Mayor Free Hand in His Campaign

Chicago. — (AP) — Mayor William Hale Thompson's entire cabinet resigned today, the resignations to take effect at the mayor's pleasure.

Samuel E. Littleton, corporation counsel and chief of the mayor's staff, said the move was to give Thompson a free hand in the conduct of his campaign for reelection against Anton J. Cermak, Democratic chairman of the Cook-co board.

"We felt we should relieve the mayor of any obligation to continue any of us in office in his next administration," Littleton said. "All of us have pledged ourselves to work vigorously for his reelection."

Among the leaders of the cabinet are Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, health commissioner; Morris Eller, "boss" of the "Bloody Twentieth" ward and city collector; Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works; Michael J. Flaherty, president of the board of local improvements; and Daniel Scritella, city sealer.

Another member, Christian Paschen, building commissioner, was indicated by a federal grand jury for income tax evasion.

STUDY REVEALS CHIEF NEEDS OF PENAL PROGRAM

Committee Favors State Bureau of Detection and Apprehension

PRISONS OVERCROWDED Lack of Hospital and Educational Facilities Also Emphasized

Madison. — (AP) — New departures in the fields of detection, apprehension and treatment of criminals and appropriation of $5,554,988 was recommended by citizens committee on crime and criminal justice today in its first report since its formation a year ago.

The committee was organized under the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work and is composed of approximately 150 civic leaders from all sections of the state. Former Gov. Francis E. McGovern, Milwaukee, is general chairman of the committee.

The legislative appropriation asked by the committee would be used for a period of three years for the construction and purchase of equipment which has been found necessary at the various penal and correctional institutions of the state.

Lack of hospital and educational facilities coupled with the problem of overcrowding, constitute the most serious situation in the institution, the committee's report said. On every hand the report pointed out, "one encounters almost a total want of hospital facilities. . . . Serious shortcomings were also found in the housing of both inmates and employees." The whole plan for better educational facilities, the committee said, "waits upon a small but necessary grant of funds by the legislature."

Establishment of a state bureau of detection and apprehension was recommended. Such a bureau would organize the peace officers of the state so as to be subject to call for aid by telephone or by radio. A bill for the establishment of a bureau has been drafted and will be introduced in the legislature.

Would Restore Old Law

The committee also recommended the restoration of the old indeterminate sentence law which provided that courts might fix the maximum sentence but that the minimum sentence was to be one year, thus leaving the board of control power to parole men who are deemed safe for parole treatment. In connection with probation, the committee recommended that others than first offenders be placed on probation under proper circumstances, that courts extend the probationary period if advisable, and that certain offenses carrying a sentence of 10 years or more be made probationable.

In the treatment of offenders, the committee recommended a careful study of each individual case before transfer is made to any penal or correctional institution. The expansion of prison farms was advocated for offenders in a short period of time, and the use of prison camps for reforestation work also received favorable reception with the committee.

Appropriation of sufficient funds for the establishment of industries in the state prison was recommended. The committee pointed out that idleness among prisoners is one of the greatest evils at the state prison. A separate institution for less-than-first offenders, proposed in a joint resolution of the legislature, was approved by the committee. County jails, the report said, should be limited to the detention of persons awaiting trial.

Hope for reducing the cost of crime lies in the use of mental hygiene "at every point where a publicly supported service of any kind is offered to the people under conditions permitting the application of approved psychiatric methods," the committee reported.

"The establishment of child guidance clinics is recommended," the report said, "wherever possible under plans by which teachers in both public and parochial schools may secure assistance in methods of guidance of unadjusted children. This is the point where the largest measure of preventive work is likely to be accomplished."

The vital question in mental hygiene work, the committee reported, was to find out what can be done "for" an offender rather than what can be done "to" him.

The committee was of the opinion that the proper treatment of the criminal and methods of crime prevention "should be made the concern of an enlightened public" although "the earnest efforts of all public officials... combined with the most scientific methods available in the educational machinery of the state will be needed to buttress Wisconsin in its fight against crime."

Tennessee State Officials Under Fire In Lea-Caldwell Quiz

GOVERNOR AND OTHERS RAPPED BY PROBE BODY

Legislator Assails Report for Failure to Advise Definite Action

Nashville, Tenn., (P)—Tennessee's principal state officials, as well as Colonel Luke Lea, publisher, and Rogers Caldwell, financier, were under fire today in a report of a legislative investigating committee that was under fire itself for alleged lack of definite recommendations.

After the report, containing 12,000 words, had been read to the legislature last night, Senator Hal Clements of Knoxville, said "a more unflattering report I never read," adding that it failed to advise prosecution or ousting of state officials criticized for placing nearly $7,000,000 in the so-called "Lea-Caldwell" banks that subsequently failed.

Turning to the reference to the committee's calling attention of the governor, treasurer and comptroller to "non-compliance" with the statute regarding the fixing of bonds for state officials handling funds, and to the committee's "requesting their compliance with it," Clements said:

"If they have violated the law, they don't have to be put on notice; they ought to be put out of office. That's what the people want."

"Why," he asked, "couldn't we start now with ouster suits and, if impeachment suits are necessary, start impeachment suits?"

"Irrespective of politics," Clements continued "up in my country people are suffering, business is paralyzed, little children are not Santa Claus, women want hungry, honest men, heretofore of their rank by the political manipulators that you speak of, and by Luke Lea and Rogers Caldwell, went out and took their lives."

However, he said he favored a continuation of the investigation, but warned that if the Democrats did not "wash their dirty linen" the Republicans would do it for them in 1932.

Both houses received a resolution calling for a recess of the legislature from next Saturday until May 25 in order that the committee might continue its investigation. Favorable action on the recess appeared assured.

DRAW JURY TO HEAR SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Railroad Company Asks $6,300—Plaintiffs Counterclaim for $10,000

A jury was being drawn in circuit court this morning to hear the suit of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company against Victoria Bourassa, administrator of the estate of Philip Bourassa and George Hiale. The railroad company seeks damages of $6,300, while the plaintiffs have filed a counterclaim for $10,000.

The suit grew out of an accident on Nov. 30, 1929, when a car driven by Hiale crashed into the side of a Northwestern train on the W. Eighth-st crossing here. A car was knocked off the track and Philip Bourassa was fatally injured.

The complaint, filed by the railroad company, contends that Hiale and Bourassa were at fault for running into the train and that damages estimated at $6,300 were caused to the railroad company's property as the result of the accident.

The jury was expected to be completed at noon, but the case was not expected to reach the jury until late Wednesday or sometime Thursday.

REVEAL BIG PROFITS IN WASTE MATERIALS

Chicago—(P)—Waste means profit to some folks. Delegates attending the annual convention of the National Association of Waste Material dealers said it amounted to "something like $750,000,000 a year."

C. E. Coverton of New York, president of the organization, said worn out pots and dish cloths are likely to become anything from shoddy cloth to roofing paper and that other shells and old rope offer all sorts of possibilities.

YOUTH ADMITS GUILT IN BICYCLE THEFTS

Ray Coonen, 20, Little Chute, to Be Sentenced Monday

Ray Coonen, 20, Little Chute, pleaded guilty of petty larceny in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Monday afternoon. Sentence was deferred until Monday and he was released under bonds of $100. Coonen was charged with being a member of a gang of four Little Chute and Kimberly boys who had been stealing bicycles in Appleton during the last few months. The other three boys are 14 and 15 years old and their cases are pending in juvenile court. Hearings have been set for next Monday.

Police recovered eight stolen bicycles at the home of one of the boys and confiscated a large number of parts and many paints. They charged the boys stole the bicycles, repainted them and changed equipment so the machines couldn't be identified.

LOAD RESTRICTION IS PUT ON FREEDOM ROADS

The town of Freedom has placed a load limit restriction in effect on town roads, according to Jacob DeJong, town clerk. Loads totaling more than 7,000 pounds are prohibited on the town roads until after May 15. This was done to protect the roads from damage during the spring thaw.

This town is the second one to adopt a load limit restriction. The town of Grand Chute was the first. The county highway department also has placed a load limit in effect on its road. The limits range from 7,000 on gravel and nine-foot paved roads to as high as 13,000 pounds on regular paved highways. The type and number of tires on a truck also are taken into consideration.

CHAMBER DIRECTORS PLAN DANCING PARTY

Plans for a dancing party to be given after Easter were discussed at a meeting of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce board of directors at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. ## Bolt And Nut Group Told To Dissolve

New York—(P)—Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman today ordered the dissolution of the Bolt, Nut and Rivet Manufacturers' association, controlling about 95 per cent of the industry, holding that it was in restraint of trade and a violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

Counsel for the association, doing an annual business of approximately $75,000,000, agreed to the issuance of the order. The decree forbids all preferential lists of customers and requires each member of the association to fix its own prices.

The Bethlehem Steel corporation, Republic Steel and Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Co. are among the fifty members of the association which has its headquarters in Pittsburgh. They were named as defendants by the government together with Charles J. Graham, Pittsburgh, president of the trade association; E. Harmon Friel, of A. and M. Haycock of Philadelphia; and John C. Kortrick of the Kortrick Manufacturing Co. of San Francisco.

Mr. Graham announced that while the association was ordered dissolved as a price-fixing body in restraint of trade, the members proposed to form a new trade association which would conform to federal laws. He said the government had granted permission for the organization of such an association.

The association was formed in 1925 when the industry was losing approximately $3,000,000 a year, according to the officers and had turned the loss into a profit which last year amounted to $7,000,000.

DRUNK FINED

Edward Wenzel, Kaukauna, was given a choice of paying a fine of $10 or spending 10 days in the county jail, when he was arraigned before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday afternoon on charges of drunkenness. He pleaded guilty, but up to this morning he had not paid the fine.

EXPERIENCE IS SEEN AS AID IN SELECTING JOB

Varied Employment Develops Interest, Puffer Tells Service Clubs

Exploratory experiences, gathered from contacts with workers in every industrial, professional and commercial field, are probably the most valuable experiences a boy can secure to help him select his life work, J. Adams Puffer, Boston, Mass., director of the Beacon Boys' bureau, told the Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs at a dinner meeting sponsored by the chamber of commerce forum committee at Conway hotel Monday afternoon. Lions club acted as host.

Mr. Puffer, who has been associated with boys' work for 25 years, stated a two weeks engagement in this city with his address Monday. During the next two weeks he will speak before students of the high school and other educational and business groups, outlining vocational guidance programs.

A boy who works in the various vocational fields is bound to find more interest in one particular job than in the others, and by developing this interest he may be able to make his choice of occupation, the speaker pointed out.

He declared that through these explorations a youngster will tend to test his abilities in the various trades, or make decisions which he would not make if he was forced into work outlined by his parents, teachers or others interested in his future.

Must Judge Ability

"Abilities are as the deciding factor of vocational selection, and the higher the ability the more complex the problem of finding the proper job for the brilliant boy," Mr. Puffer said.

He scored teachers who fail students because they have poor grades, when they know that the boy, or girl is really working hard to get ahead in school.

"A child's future hangs in the balance when the judgment of one teacher is passed on the student's ability to cope with the school program," he said.

In discussing the rating of students, Mr. Puffer stated that the judgment of 16 teachers and the principal of the school would be safe in estimating the abilities and qualities of the pupil. The judgment of 16 people in other fields would be safe in estimating the qualities not measured in school, he stated.

"Intelligence, mechanical and artistic qualities are the three factors to be considered in a boy's selection of his life work," Mr. Puffer said.

Vocational guidance counselors should trace the family history of the boy or girl before helping find a job, the speaker declared. Abilities, whether they be mechanical, artistic or in some other form, are inherited, he stated.

Encourage Ambition
Mr. Puffer said he believed that ambitions stirred up in a boy by his parents teachers, or others interested in him is another primary factor in helping a boy choose his vocation. He said that these ambitions should not be fixed but tentative, and that parents should encourage the youngster in developing interest in his ambitions.

"Little successes start ambitions," the speaker said. "A youngster who has been successful in accomplishing something which his father could not do should be praised, not envied. Arrangement of a proper home program will do much toward helping a boy or girl in their future work."

The speaker praised the Appleton school system, pointing out that the

CITY SCHOOL COSTS EIGHTH HIGH IN STATE

Epidemics Affect Computation of Per Capita Costs in Appleton

Appleton stands in a median position of eighth place among 27 Wisconsin cities in per capita school costs for 1929-1930, with the school costs $3.70 above average for the state, according to a report received recently from Racine by Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools.

Figures in the report are based on assessed valuations, tax levies and school costs in 27 cities with a population of more than 10,000. Appleton is thirteenth in the population list.

The average per capita cost is $100.10 with Fond du Lac serving as a median since it is fourteenth in the list and has a per capita cost of eight cents below average. The Appleton average is $3.78 greater than that of Fond du Lac.

Mr. Rohan presented several objections to this system of obtaining a per capita tax ratio in view of the fact that the figures in the report give only a surface information. The true tax rates are not determined in the report, he explained. This rate would be determined on the actual property valuation of a city rather than the assessed valuation. If this were done, it would be found that some cities with a comparatively low tax rate do not have so much advantage over other cities in that many of these cities with a low tax rate also have a low ratio of assessed valuation.

Effect of Epidemics

Other factors which are not considered in the report, according to Mr. Rohan, include the fact that the cities which have a large percentage of students enrolled in secondary schools have a greater expense in the up-keep of additional junior high schools; that the average daily attendance, upon which the per capita cost is figured, is often affected by epidemics. In Appleton last year an epidemic during the third six weeks period brought the attendance average down to 86.29 per cent. During the same period this year the attendance average has been maintained at 95.8. The attendance in the record for this year is 84 less than the average for 1929-1930.

The highest per capita cost among the cities included in the report is Shorewood, with an average of $141.07. Madison is second with $137.28, Milwaukee totals $120.21. The comparative per capita costs are as follows: Shorewood, $141.07; Madison, $137.28; Milwaukee, $120.21; Green Bay, $116.15; Manitowoc, $114.60; Kenosha, $110.67; Two Rivers, $107.70; Appleton, $102.80; Cudahy, $103.67; Superior, $103.16; Ashland, $91.89; Beloit, $83.01; Eau Claire, $78.40; Janesville, $97.24; La Crosse, $81.28; Marinette, $83.38; Oshkosh, $89.85; Racine, $83.74; Sheboygan, $89.59; South Milwaukee, $102.37; Stevens Point, $82.17; Watertown, $87.37; Waukesha, $90.61; Wausau, $84.67; Wauwatosa, $102.54; West Allis, $101.36.

Kunitz Livery, Landmark Of City, Being Wrecked

One of Appleton's oldest landmarks, the Kunitz garage, formerly Kunitz Livery, 112 W. Washington-st., is being torn down. Oscar Kunitz, owner, plans to erect a small brick office on the site and to utilize the vacant area for a parking place.

The present frame structure was erected in 1885, by Mr. Kunitz's father, John C. Kunitz. At that time the building was one of the city's finest and most imposing structures and Mr. Kunitz's livery business was known throughout the Fox river valley.

One thing which made Mr. Kunitz's business especially well known was his hobby to purchase black horses. At one time he was the proud owner of 15 fine black horses. Mr. Kunitz was known to traveling men throughout the state as the "man with the black horses."

In 1906 Oscar Kunitz entered into a partnership with his father, and in 1912 he took over the entire business and his father retired. About the time the "horseless" carriage became the vogue, rapidly replacing horses. Still the Kunitz Livery carried on. Several years ago Mr. Kunitz constructed a modern garage in the rear of the old livery stable to house his cars.

Wrecking of the building, which is being done by Joseph Schultz, will be completed this week. Mr. Kunitz said his new building would be erected in about another week, and his parking station would be ready for business early in April.

Continued Enforcement Will Solve Prohibition, Ministers Told

TEACH EVILS OF DRINKING, SAYS PASTOR

Dry Amendment Doesn't Make Law Breakers, Rev. Garrison Holds

The solution of the problem of prohibition is to continue enforcing the laws and to teach adults and children the evils of liquor drinking and the reason for prohibition, the Rev. R. A. Garrison, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, maintained in a searching analysis of the dry law before the Fox River Valley Ministerial association at the Y. M. C. A. Monday afternoon. Force undoubtedly must have its place in this crusade, he maintained, but in the end the only way to make prohibition effective is to make it a moral reform rather than a law enforcement measure.

"Prohibition does not make law breakers; it reveals them," said Mr. Garrison in answering some of the arguments against the Eighteenth amendment.

He quoted the statement made by Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, that "the liquor traffic and the Christian gospel stand for two diverse and contradictory conceptions of personal and social life."

Mr. Garrison pointed out that the prohibition law infringes on one's personal liberty no more than do the traffic laws and the pure food laws. The argument about drinking being a habit, he said, is aside from the question of its being a social evil.

Listing the benefits of prohibition, the speaker claimed that it had resulted in increased bank savings, improved industrial efficiency and raised wages, had increased the number and proportion of home owners, and raised the moral standard.

"The causes of crime run deeper than the evils of drinking," said Mr. Garrison, "and it is just as unfair to attribute to prohibition all the improvements in living conditions which have come in the last few years, so is it equally unfair to charge the prevalence of crime to prohibition."

The speaker admitted that conditions are bad, but asked, "when was the situation with the liquor problem ever satisfactory?" He gave statistics showing that there is a lot of bootlegging going on, but that the amount of liquor consumed is less than before prohibition.

Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university who affirmed after a careful survey, "that the amount of liquor now being poured down human throats in the United States is certainly less than 16 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption."

He also used the statement of A. A. Stagg, athletic director of the University of Chicago and other universities that there was no more prohibition.

He used Mr. Stagg's list of violators of the prohibition law—the rich, the well-to-do, the class who demand special privileges for themselves and the followers, or "the weak ones who just go along."

As a deterrent to drinking among the young, of which he stated there is entirely too much, the speaker advised parents and the public to consider drunkenness with the disgust it deserves.

Should Observe Law

Though all those who favor prohibition do not believe that prohibition is the best method of control, Mr. Garrison stated that as long as the amendment is a part of the law of the land the person who violates the law or encourages others to do so is not acting the part of a loyal citizen and is joining hands with the outlaw.

He said that many are honestly of the opinion that prohibition is not the best method of solving the rum problem, some are opposed to prohibition because it gives too much promise of destroying the liquor business and the enormous profits which have always been made from it.

Stating that the number of persons opposed to prohibition is not so great as some think, the pastor said that "if there were so many opposed to prohibition the political parties would not be so wary about commitment to a wet position."

President Hoover, many of the leaders in the United States congress, many successful businessmen like Ford and Edison, the members of the Wickersham law enforcement commission, educators and workers with youth, and the churches were listed as persons and agencies favoring prohibition.

About the Wickersham report he said, "The commission opposed the return of the saloon and also the federal government or the state governments into the liquor business. The commission also opposed the return of beer and wine and is recommending that further and more effective efforts be made to enforce the law."

President Hoover in presenting the report to Congress said, "The commission, by a large majority, does not favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment as a method of cure for the inherent abuses of the liquor traffic."

He read an excerpt from the commission's report which said, "The Wickersham commission, with a disposition of the mind of a scientist not to grant anything that is not clearly established, admits that there has been an increase in production and in labor efficiency due to prohibition and that it was generally conceded in hearings by social workers that conditions in the homes of the poorer people are better than they were before prohibition."

He quoted Mr. Wickersham's statement in Boston that "some of the best of the people are now

Favors Dry Law

Solution of the prohibition problem will be found through continued enforcement, the Rev. R. A. Garrison, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, declared at a meeting of the Fox River Valley Ministerial association at the Y. M. C. A. Monday afternoon.

ifications proposed would inevitably lead to the restoration of the licensed saloon, with all the evils of this institution in the past and therefore we were unwilling at this time to abandon all further efforts to bring about a general observance of the eighteenth amendment."

Maintaining that the abuses of liquor selling and drinking in the past have made it clear that the liquor business must be subject to supervision, Mr. Garrison said the problem boils down to a question of control. State control, he felt, is sound enough in principle, but its adoption would be a backward step. It would result in complications in enforcing liquor laws, engender strife between states, and would result in retrogression of the abolishment of the evils of liquor drinking, while it would in no wise appease those who object to prohibition on principle.

His At Control

Government control, he said, puts the government into the liquor business, a situation to which many who are zealous for the good name of the country would object. He explained that the Canadian population is divided over the plan in operation in their country, and presented statistics to show that as much liquor is sold by bootleggers in Canada as is sold in government stores.

In 1929, he said, jail commitments in Canada have increased 44 per cent; prisoners sentenced, 55 per cent; drunkenness and disorder, 23 per cent; and breaches of liquor laws, 216 per cent.

"This should be food for thought for those who argue that the cure for bootlegging is to sell plenty of liquor at a reasonable price," he stated. "According to the Vancouver commissioner of police, 'there is no control about it. You can buy all you want. It is not government control but government sale.'"

The speaker declared that the liquor business brought upon itself the judgment that rests upon it. "The liquor traffic was always debasing, a crime breeder, corruptive in politics, destructive of home life, and generally detrimental to society, and under the old saloon system conditions became so bad that they smelled to heaven," he said. Prohibition was not "slipped over" upon the country while some of the people were looking the other way.

For at least three quarters of a century America moved step by step toward prohibition. Before national prohibition was adopted intoxicating liquor had been outlawed in 90 per cent of all townships and rural precincts, and 75 per cent of all the villages and 85 per cent of all the counties in the United States.

Twenty-five states had banned liquor by referendum vote and eight states by legislative enactment. In other words, before the Eighteenth amendment, 95 per cent of the area and 68 per cent of the population were under prohibition law by local option. It is to be remembered that the Eighteenth amendment received the largest vote ever given any amendment to the constitution of the United States and that it was ratified by 46 of the 48 states of the Union, Connecticut and Rhode Island excepted, and in those two lived less than one per cent of the population."

He presented figures from the United States department of justice, bureau of prohibition, showing that the drinking of alcoholic liquors is responsible for 2 per cent of the insane in the United States, 40 per cent of the neglected and abandoned children, for 50 per cent of the convicts in prisons, for 80 per cent of the inmates of jails and workhouses, for a large number of suicides and accidents, for almost all venereal diseases and for a large part of marital infidelities.

Appeals For Chance

Using President Hoover's term for prohibition "a noble experiment," Mr. Garrison closed with an appeal that prohibition be given a chance.

"The day when 200,000 saloons were outlawed in the United States was a great step in advance toward the completion of one of the greatest reforms ever undertaken by any nation," he said. "It was the promise of the coming of that great era in our nation which was prophesied by Abraham Lincoln when he said, 'After reconstruction the next question will be the overthrow and abolition of the liquor traffic—when there shall be neither a slave nor a drunkard on the earth, how proud the title of that land which may truly claim to be the birthplace and cradle of both these revolutions, that shall have ended in that victory.'"

"It is too much to expect that such a reform could come easily. It is too

MAN CLEARED OF CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

Judge Directs Verdict After Testimony Is Completed in Case

A directed verdict dismissing a charge of manslaughter against David Bilske, Chicago, was granted by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court last night after all the testimony in the case had been completed. A jury was drawn yesterday afternoon and the jurors sat through the session and heard the testimony, which was completed when Bilske's attorneys moved for the directed verdict.

Bilske was arrested last August following an automobile crash on Highway 26, in which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schultz, Greenville residents were killed. Bilske was driving on Highway 26 when his car and a machine driven by Albert Schultz, son of the aged couple, collided. It was the contention of the state that Bilske was guilty of gross negligence.

The Bilske case was the first of a group on the March term of circuit court which opened last week. Jury cases were postponed, however, until this week and the jury was instructed to report for duty yesterday.

Several months ago a civil suit, growing out of the same case, in which the Schultz estate sued Bilske for $10,000, was settled out of court for $600.

Miss Helen Wallis Speaks at Meeting of Civic Council

Citing specific cases to show how the organization she represents does its work, Miss Helen Wallis, district welfare worker for the Children's Home Aid Society in Wisconsin, spoke at the meeting of the Civic Council at the Y. The playground committee reported that it again had engaged A. C. Denney, director of athletics at Lawrence college, as playground director. He is preparing a program which will be submitted to the committee next week.

Plans for the annual meeting and dinner on Monday, April 20, also were considered. A nominating committee for the coming year will be named soon by Adolph Guyer, president. A committee composed of C. K. Boyer, Miss Anna Sullivan and Mrs. W. J. Fraxley was named to arrange for the dinner and for a speaker.

NO OBJECTIONS AT ORDINANCE HEARING

No objections were made to the transfer of 120 feet on both sides of Wisconsin-ave. from Meade-st. to Richmond-st. into the local business district, at the public hearing on the proposed ordinance held at city hall Monday evening. Only 10 property owners appeared and all were in favor of the change.

The ordinance will be voted upon at the council meeting Wednesday evening. It is reported that all property owners in this district, with the exception of two, approve of the transfer. However, several aldermen have objections, so it is probable that the ordinance will precipitate a warm argument Wednesday evening.

No property owners appeared at the hearing on the transfer of lots 1 and 2, block 2, Newberry plat, into the local business district. This also will be voted upon Wednesday evening.

Reports on plans for gospel meetings in Appleton theatres during holy week were heard by Fox River Valley Ministerial association at the Y. M. C. A. Monday afternoon. Dr. John R. Denyes is chairman of the committee and E. L. Madson and George F. Werner are the other two members. The committee will be expanded to include representatives from all churches.

Y. M. C. A. CAFETERIA COMMITTEE TO MEET

The cafeteria committee of the Y. M. C. A. will meet for luncheon Wednesday noon to consider several propositions for supplying flooring for the cafeteria. The committee is consisting of the following: J. R. Whitman is chairman of the committee.

FORWARDS ANNUAL REPORT

A request for the annual reports of the city of Appleton was received this week by Carl Becker, city clerk, from the Library of Congress at Washington. Mr. Becker sent one of the city's annual audit reports.

much to expect that such a reform could be perfected in a decade or two. In all justice it seems that prohibition should at least be given a chance now that we have committed ourselves to the noble experiment. The longer it remains in operation, the more secure will it become fixed in the life of the nation, and the more clearly revealed will be its benefits. Some who are now opposed to prohibition may in a few years awake to discover that they have been looking at the tail-light of history instead of the head-light."

Pioneer Dies

Mrs. Viola Fox, 76, who died Sunday afternoon at the home of her son, Eugene, at Green Bay. A pioneer resident of Appleton, she moved to Green Bay about two years ago.

JUDGE SETS DATE FOR PRELIMINARY HEARING OF ELLIS

Man Charged With Manslaughter Is Released on Bonds of $1,000

Date for the preliminary hearing of Marvin Ellis, 27, 818 E. Atlantic-st., on a charge of manslaughter, was set yesterday by Municipal Judge Theodore Berg for next Monday. Ellis was released from the county jail under bonds of $1,000.

Ellis was arrested in connection with the death of Anthony Bodmer, 51, 200 E. Atlantic-st., the latter part of February, after the former confessed that he struck Bodmer and knocked him to the ground during a fight in the rear of Bodmer's home early on the morning of Feb. 10.

Ellis first denied striking Bodmer, claiming he merely pushed him, but when Ellis was questioned with the aid of a "lie-detector," brought here from Evanston, Ill., he changed his story.

A coroner's jury found that Bodmer came to his death as the result of a blow struck by Ellis. Arraigned in municipal court following his confession, Ellis waived his preliminary hearing and was bound over to circuit court for trial.

His attorneys, however, requested that Circuit Judge Edgar V. Werner send the case back to municipal court for a preliminary hearing. When the state did not object, Judge Werner remanded the case.

UNCERTAIN WEATHER ON WEDNESDAY MENU

Uncertain weather will prevail in Appleton during the next 24 hours, according to the weatherman. Skies will be cloudy; the mercury is due for a rise in the southwestern sections of the state, and light rain or snow with a drop in the mercury is on the menu for the western section of Wisconsin, he says.

Winds are shifting to the south-east and east, a good indication of weather. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 27 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 34 degrees above zero.

CARPENTERS ATTEND ANNUAL HOME SHOW

A group of Appleton carpenter contractors, accompanied by representatives of the Standard Manufacturing Co., attended the annual home show in the auditorium at Milwaukee Saturday morning, stopping at Fond du Lac for a luncheon.

Those from here who attended were Robert Schmidt, Jr., George Schmidt, Earl Fourness and Elmer Root, all of the manufacturing firm, and the following carpenters: August Beusch, George Wiegand, William Toll, Herman Schultz, Charles Hartmann, Fred Hoepner, Theodore Utschig, August Buchholz, Herman Hoepner, Albert Utschig, William Plotow, Julius Krause, George Ashman, Fred Piette, Fred Hoffman and Edward Schultz.

A son was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Albert LaFond, 200 First-st., Menasha, at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, 516 N. Clark-st., Sunday.

A son was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, 616 N. Clark-st.

Miss Delores Scherer, Sherwood, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Wychen, route 1, Kaukauna.

Richard Klumbers has returned from the Wisconsin General Hospital, Madison, where he had been confined for five weeks following an operation.

YOUTHS COMMITTING TOO MANY CRIMES, CIRCUIT JUDGE SAYS

Denies Clemency or Parole for 3 Youths Sentenced at Chilton

Because too many young men who have been convicted of crimes are paroled only to break the law again, Judge Fred Beglinger, Oshkosh, sitting in circuit court for Calumet-co at Chilton sentenced two DePere and one Green Bay youths to state institutions Monday, denying all pleas for clemency or parole.

Arthur Cary, 21, of Green Bay drew a sentence of from one to two years in state's prison at Waupun for holding up the Jandrey place at Brillion on Sept. 12 and for holding up and robbing Joseph Schaller of $50.

Cary was out on parole from Brown-co where he staged several robberies and drew a sentence in Green Bay reformatory. He now will be forced to serve the remainder of his reformatory sentence and then go to Waupun for the sentence meted out by the Calumet-co circuit court.

Arnold Heimerl, 20, of DePere, who was with Cary on the night of the Jandrey robbery and who was arrested last week, pleaded guilty to charges against him and was sentenced to serve not less than one year nor more than one year and three months in Green Bay reformatory. The offense was his first and the district attorney asked leniency which Judge Beglinger refused.

Heimerl is the son of a retired farmer. Louis Hermesen, 23, of DePere, member of a gang that robbed three Calumet-co roadhouses and soft drink parlors on Jan. 22, was sentenced to from one to two years at Green Bay Reformatory on each of the three charges, the sentences to run concurrently. He received the heavier sentence because of a previous record and the fact that he carried a gun.

GREEN BAY HEARS MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Lawrence College Organization Opens 1931 Tour Program

Five Appleton boys appeared with the Lawrence college Men's Glee club in the first concert of its thirteenth annual tour presented in Green Bay Monday evening. They were Robert Eads, Marshall Hulbert, Gerald Franz, Merlin Pitt and Alfred Ventur. Mr. Hulbert, baritone, is also accompanying the glee club as vocal soloist.

The glee club, composed of forty voices selected for accuracy of blend range and tonal qualities for glee singing, will present a concert in Neenah on Sunday, March 22, and the following evening will appear at the Lawrence Memorial chapel as the final number on the artist series.

The personnel of the club has been selected from a group of 60 which has been rehearsing regularly since early fall under the direction of Dean Waterman. The program will consist of a complete range of songs suited to male voices including old English and Italian folk songs as well as selections by Brahms, Gounod, and other well-known composers. Negro spirituals, stirring college songs and others of a lighter vein will be sung to suit every taste.

LIONS CLUB BOWLERS GO TO NEW LONDON

Four or five Appleton Lions club bowling teams will roll at New London tonight in the state Lions bowling tourney. The keggers will roll in team events, doubles and singles. The tournament started several weeks ago.

STUDENTS WILL HEAR UNIVERSITY REGISTRAR

Frank Holt, registrar of the University of Wisconsin, will address the students of Appleton high school Wednesday morning in the assembly period. He will discuss Guidance for College, presenting aspects of preparation, and the attitude with which a student should enter college.

GIRLS ENTERTAIN FOR HIGH SCHOOL CAGERS

Appleton high school basketball squad will be entertained by the Girls Athletic association tonight at the annual basketball dinner. The dinner is being planned under direction of Miss Edith Small, girls' physical director at the high school. Letters will be awarded team members. The team finished in a tie for the valley conference championship. Short-talks will be given by members of the faculty connected with the Orange sports program.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits showed a continued increase last week, when seven permits totaling $11,577 were issued by John M. Welland, building inspector. During the same week last year 10 permits, valued at $10,755, were granted.

Three building permits were issued Monday by John M. Welland, building inspector. They were granted to Dr. C. E. Ryan, 113 E. Lawrence-st., two car garage, cost $400; Charles Lorenz, 534 W. Packard-st., addition to residence and porch, cost $250; and Charles Boyd, 232 E. Lawrence-st., addition to residence, cost $150.

Mrs. Ed Rohloff, Hortonville, visited relatives in Appleton last week.

APPROXIMATELY 300 FILE AFFIDAVITS ON TAX EXTENSION

Affidavits claiming inability to pay taxes were filed with Fred Bachman, city treasurer, by about 300 Appleton persons since March 1 the filing period closed Saturday.

The affidavits protect these 300 persons from the usual penalties and fees charged after March 1 for uncollected or delinquent taxes. They have until June 1 to pay their taxes, free from penalties, but if the taxes are not paid by that date the property will be treated in the same manner as delinquent taxes.

This emergency measure was adopted by the common council in an attempt to relieve persons who have been seriously affected by the prevailing business conditions.

NASH AND KRUEGER WILL BE TAKEN TO PRISON WEDNESDAY

Men Sentenced for Parts in Freedom State Bank Robbery Sentenced

Stephen Nash, Chicago, under sentence of three years in state prison at Waupun and Theodore Krueger, Chicago, under sentence of from 20 to 30 years in state reformatory at Green Bay, will be taken to those institutions Monday, according to Sheriff John Lappen. Nash pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact in the Freedom State bank robbery on Feb. 11, and Krueger pleaded guilty on Feb. 12 of participating in the actual robbery.

Krueger was sentenced at that time and Nash was sentenced yesterday.

John Brooks, also of Chicago, and William Clausen, former proprietor of the Log Cabin Inn on Highway 47, who were sentenced yesterday to a year each in the county jail, have started serving their terms. Brooks pleaded guilty and Clausen was found guilty by a jury of the same offense as that under which Nash was sentenced. Nash received a heavier penalty because it was brought out that he had previously been convicted of a criminal charge.

No date has been set yet for settlement of the charge of robbery against Arthur Krueger, a brother of Theodore and Frank Goretz, Chicago. These youths have admitted participation in the actual robbery and their cases are pending in juvenile court.

HORICON MARSH IS DISCUSSED AT MEET

Juneau — (P) — The controversy over restoration of Horicon marsh came to the front here last night as conservationists and farmers met to discuss the question.

William Mauthe, chairman of the conservation commission, Isaac Walton league members from Horicon; representatives of the Farmers' Protective association; Assemblyman Frank Panzer and Ira Burtis, and Senator Eugene Clifford, all of Dodge-co., were speakers.

Farmers owning land around the Marsh insisted the state buy their property. Mauthe said the commission desired first to operate the dam as an experiment for a while before purchasing farm lands.

DEATHS

MRS. MARGARET BECKER, 81, died Monday evening in Appleton. The body was taken from the Schommer funeral home to her home in New London Tuesday afternoon.

CORPS REHEARSAL

The weekly rehearsal of the valley council boy scout drum and bugle corps will be held at 7:30 Wednesday evening at Moose hall, according to Clifford Schroeder, director. The youngsters will continue their study of music, after which the rehearsal is to be conducted.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kreutzer, 1040 W. Prospect-ave., are visiting at Abrams and Green Bay for the rest of the week.

Post-Crescent To Hold Annual Cooking School In High School Building

In 1921 a small group of women from Appleton and surrounding districts, gathered in the Vocational school for the first Appleton Post-Crescent cooking school. Since that time the school has grown until it now includes women from throughout Outagamie-co; it outgrew the space afforded in the Vocational school, and in turn outgrew the Elks club auditorium. The free cooking school has become an institution for the women interested in the improvement of household technique.

This year marks the beginning of a larger and more extensive school than the Post-Crescent has ever conducted since its modest start ten years ago. It will be held in Appleton high school March 31, April 1 and 2. Mrs. Opal Neidhamer, who will conduct the school, is nationally known home expert and has conducted successful cooking schools all over the country.

For the first time in its history, the Post-Crescent school will be entirely independent; it will be held in a more central location, with better facilities to care for the larger crowds; the feature of the Home Institute will be a definite part of the program.

Can Seat 1,000

The Appleton high school auditorium where the lectures will be given by Mrs. Neidhamer, is large enough to seat 1,000, and it has permanent seats with arm desks attached. The acoustics will enable everyone present to hear the lecturer from all parts of the room.

The booths for modern household appliances on exhibition, will be placed in the corridor extending the length of the school. These are easily seen upon entering and leaving the building. The high school itself is in a central location in Appleton, with the added convenience of three entrances and broad, shallow steps.

The first of the four sessions of the cooking school will begin at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, March 31. The second and third meetings on April 1 and 2 will begin at the same time on their respective afternoons, with the last session at 7:30 Thursday night.

There will be prizes given to cooking school members at each of the four sessions. They are valuable awards, amounting to more than $500.

RECOMMENDS PLANS FOR STREET PAVING

Recommendation that the engineer prepare plans and specifications for the paving of S. Lawrence-st. from the bridge to South River-st. was made by the street and bridge committee at its meeting at city hall Tuesday afternoon.

The price committee was advised to advertise for bids on minimum size car of cement, that it get prices on catch basin tops and inlets, manhole covers and rings, and that the city purchase a minimum size car of patching material.

They suggested a sidewalk on the east side of Superior-st. from the Denzel property to the alley.

SEE SUPPORT FOR ECONOMIC COUNCIL PLAN

LaFollette Proposal at Washington Meeting Is Backed by Intellectuals

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—The concentrated support of liberal intellectuals for Sen. Robert M. LaFollette's bill to establish a national economic council was revealed by the progressive conference on economic problems held here last week.

At least four of the speakers recommended creation of such a council or commission. The LaFollette bill provides for a council of 15 members appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, selected from lists submitted by groups or associations and organizations representing the industrial, financial, agricultural, transportation, and labor interests of the United States.

Sen. LaFollette obtained authorization for the Committee on Manufactures, of which he is chairman, to hold hearings this summer on the advisability of establishing such a commission. As soon as he and Mrs. LaFollette return from their two weeks' rest in Miami, Fla., Sen. LaFollette will start making plans for the hearings.

In addition to his hearings on the proposed economic council, Sen. LaFollette will spend much time this summer making and directing investigations as chairman of the committee on unemployment and industrial stabilization set up by the conference.

Sen. John J. Blaine of Bosceon has a bill providing for a similar project, but apparently the progressive conference favored the LaFollette measure. Sen. Blaine's bill is to create the commission proposed by the Eagles' fraternal order. This would be the Federal Industrial Commission, with five members appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate for the purpose of which would be to "aid in the stabilization of employment in industry, agriculture, and commerce" and to make studies "with a view to formulating such plans and recommending such legislation as will enable employees to obtain a saving wage and investors a reasonable dividend."

The Eagles have been putting on a big campaign for this measure and for old age pensions.

MAN WHO FOUND RICH MINE ONLY GOT JOB

Iron Mountain—(P)—The man who found the Ludington mine, which was one of the Menominee ranges richest iron deposits for many years and got nothing more than a job out of it, still is a familiar figure here.

He is John T. Spencer, widely known on the range, who swung the ax that found millions. While cutting wood nearly a half century ago, Spencer cut a hump of grass and exposed shining Bessemer iron ore. He chipped a piece off, showed it to his father and to a mining prospector.

As a result, George H. Stockbridge, in charge of operations in that district for a Menominee firm of which he was a partner, set a crew to work, and soon started work as the Lumberman's Mining company. The first year, with limited equipment, 150,000 tons of ore were removed at a price ranging from $7 to $15 a ton.

The mine still is worked, but all Spencer got from his discovery was a job in the mine.

STENOGRAPHER DIES IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Antigo—(P)—Esther Olson, 21, a stenographer employed by the government on the Menominee Indian reservation at Neopit, was killed and her escort, Jerry Grignon, an Indian youth, was injured when their automobile crashed through the railing of a Wolf river bridge early Monday.

Grignon, who walked seven miles to the neighboring town of Phlox to get assistance in extricating the girl's body, told authorities the accident occurred when the machine struck loose gravel and skidded. The couple was returning to the reservation after attending a movie at Antigo.

The bridge at which the accident occurred is on Highway 47. Miss Olson was believed to have relatives at Hayward, Wis. Coroner W. H. Garfield of Shawano, took charge of the body.

Larkspur Suitable Both For Garden And Bouquet

Annual larkspurs are at once the delight of the florist and the gardener because of the beauty of their spikes of bloom and their finely cut decorative foliage. They are delphiniums quite as much as their more stately relatives of the hardy border, but it has become an accepted custom to distinguish between the two by referring to the annual delphiniums by their common name of larkspur and to call the perennial varieties by their botanical name of delphinium. The perennial type formerly was represented by only one common form in gardens known as the "bee larkspur" but since the multiplicity of perennial types the term delphinium distinguished them from the annual larkspurs.

The blues, lilacs, lavenders, and pink and rose shades in the annual larkspurs are as fine as any coloring in the garden. The pink and rose blues are absent in the perennial type except as markings in the center of the flower. Annual larkspurs being one of the finest cut flower material in the garden, fortunately are also the hardest and most easily grown of all the annuals.

They have only one trouble, occasionally that mysterious and apparently incurable disease of perennial larkspurs afflicts them—the black. In this case they must be pulled up and a fresh start made, but fortunately, this disease does not commonly affect the annuals. It is best not to plant them in the garden, but of the garden with the perennial forms which are more subject to blacks.

Sow the larkspurs where you want them to grow and thin out. They cannot be transplanted with much success, but as they grow so easily this is no great fault. Sow pinches of seed, four or five seeds a foot apart in the beds where you want them or six inches apart in the cutting garden and thin out to one plant to a hill. This is the easiest and most practical way to handle them.

For flower garden decoration give the plant room to branch and develop and a foot of room is needed. In the cutting garden the terminal spike which the finest for cutting alone is needed so they may be planted six inches apart and the smaller side branching spikes can be ignored. Several successive plantings should be made to have the spikes over a long season. They are most accommodating plants, flourishing in almost any soil and even doing well in shade.

Cottage Grove, Wis.—(P)—The first case of infantile paralysis in the history of this village was reported today when Hugh Clark, 6, was confined in his home with the disease.

INVESTIGATE FATALITY RAIDS ON ROADHOUSES

Wisconsin Rapids—(P)—Authorities today investigated an automobile death under mysterious circumstances which followed raids upon two roadhouses. They intimated they sought to determine if there were any relation between the raids and the fatality.

Charles Grassel, 30, died from injuries suffered when struck by an automobile driven by Benjamin Fitzpatrick, Wausau. John Savall, recently employed here as a salesman, said Grassel got out of his car after they had an argument while on the way to buy beer Saturday. Shortly after, he was struck by the car driven by Fitzpatrick. The Wausau man said Grassel either fell or jumped in front of the machine.

Meanwhile, authorities raided two roadhouses on liquor charges and held Frank Pepper, Edward Johnson and John Eberhardt under $2,000 bond each. The roadhouse men, police said, stated they believed Savall a "tipster" for prohibition officers. Savall refused to state the nature of the argument with Grassel.

The government of Argentina maintains a station at Laurie Island, the world's southernmost permanently inhabited spot, from which weather reports are broadcast.

THE QUESTION IS STILL THE SAME

The investigation of the alleged attempt to improperly influence a senator to oppose the pending utilities bills at Madison failed to elicit any evidence coupling any utility directly with it but, depending upon the effect that a quart of whiskey consumed by the three conferees within an hour or so of the claimed statements should have upon one's final judgment, did reveal a wholly improper method used by the legislative agent Raihle who was officially present as a representative of three northern towns and at times in the employ of a public utility.

Raihle denies Senator Smith's story that he said if the senator was "right" he would aid in collecting the $1900 Smith loses as a holdover, but admits the voluntary offer of helping to fatten the senator's bank account, disconnected however with any promise concerning his vote.

It would be difficult to picture Mr. Raihle out on this missionary work of picking up a sufficient salary for a senator who did not get under the wire in case that senator saw fit to vote against the interest which Mr. Raihle represented.

Lobbyists have a perfect right to appear before legislatures, in fact they very often furnish valuable information. But no lobbyist has any right to offer to any legislator whose vote he is courting any personal help whatever, whether coupled with an agreement concerning his vote or not. Although the agreement to vote in consideration of the help would be down-right bribery the voting part need hardly be expressed when it is so clearly implied.

There are many forms of bribery although few of the direct kind are probably in vogue. There are also kinds that may not directly transgress the law and yet are just as vicious as if they came within the terms of the statute.

When someone looking for legislative favors suddenly becomes deeply interested in collecting money for or otherwise aiding a legislator in his personal affairs, the purpose is obviously unclean and employed only to put the legislator under some obligation to the lobbyist.

But even were some utility directly connected with the affair it should not benumb the public's senses in weighing the really important thing involved, whether it is wise to set up in this state a huge competing utility organization, the only possible effect of which can be one of two, to waste millions of the people's money, or to ruin another utility owned by thousands of our people and the regulation of whose rates is in our hands.

That is a matter that must still be judged upon its merits unaffected by the possible effect in this case of a quart of whiskey in making some man's tongue wag too much, or whether it would have wagged the same without it.

SAINT PATRICK

The name of Saint Patrick is almost always associated with matters of religion or concerning the Irish people themselves, where it belongs rightfully enough, but which overshadows the unusual and profound ability of the man, his outstanding preeminence as a mollifier, an instructor and a builder.

Though too little is known definitely concerning his personal traits his accomplishments stand out in bold relief against the lapse of nearly fifteen centuries, seemingly as enduring as granite.

Perhaps no one accomplished the conversion of an entire race of people to Christianity during his lifetime other than Saint Patrick. He came to Ireland to find fires burning upon its altars in pagan worship. At his death about fifty years later he left it thoroughly Christianized, having built not only churches but universities, and made it the center and a mecca for Western Europe in matters of learning and education.

No one could have pursued and triumphed in such a course against the dark ignorance and superstition of the times unless he carried with him, in addition to the great faith he expounded, marked and unusual traits of character, ability in vision and leadership far beyond what was to be expected as the fifth century drew to a close, and a determination to live in harmony with the precepts of that faith whose eternal flame he carried aloft.

BONUSES

The battle of the bonus is about to be waged.

Charles M. Schwab who has for a generation held the helm of Bethlehem Steel is finding his bonus plan attacked in court. His plan gave the president of that concern over a million and a half dollars in 1929 and a similar amount to the several vice-presidents.

Leading stockholders have attacked the idea with the statement that "it is preposterous to claim that any such reward is indispensable to obtaining unusual effort and ability."

But it seems that Mr. Schwab's plan was not the big one of the country for the report of the American Tobacco Company shows that its president last year received a bonus of about two and a quarter million, because, despite general conditions, that company had an increase of about 40 per cent in profits over the previous year.

To pay wide-awake and energetic executives, as well as others for that matter, a bonus depending upon the results their plans are able to develop is not an unfair procedure, but the amount of the bonuses paid in these instances might well direct the attention to some questions: Can it be safely said that one or a few executives, unless they hold some patent of indispensable value to the company, have produced the fortunate results? Are not many of these results attributable to the conditions of the country, profits going up when business is plentiful and going down when it is poor? And if these executives are paid so handsomely when business is up who is to make up the deficit to stockholders when business is down?

Few will object to reasonable bonuses but perhaps not even a few can satisfactorily define the word reasonable as used.

GOING UPHILL

The report of the Secretary of Labor of a general increase in the volume of industrial employment, and the course of industrial income, during the month of February is almost inspiring.

Although February is a month in which some betterment in the labor market is always expected following the usual decreases in January due to repairs and the taking of inventory, the increase this year over February of last year is many fold with more than a double of the percentage increase in payroll.

"The increase constitutes the first satisfactory indication of a general upward trend since the stock market collapse in October, 1929," said Secretary Doak, and so far as figures are concerned is in keeping with the usual increases prior to the year 1930.

It is quite unlikely however that the march back to normal will proceed in regular fashion without any, and perhaps many, upsets, but were it certain that the general tendency would be always toward betterment, that would be satisfaction itself.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

On March 17 Irishmen, wherever they may happen to be, celebrate the festival of St. Patrick, their great national saint, who died on that date in 463, at the patriarchal age of 106.

The day is a national holiday in Ireland and is observed with much enthusiasm. The shamrock is worn everywhere, in commemoration of the fact that when St. Patrick was preaching the doctrine of the Trinity he made use of this plant bearing three leaves upon one stem as a symbol of the great mystery.

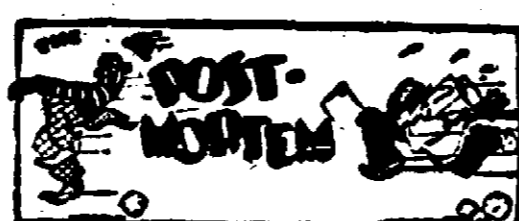

St. Patrick's work in Ireland may be summed up by saying that he founded 365 churches and planted a school by the side of each; that he organized at least one archdiocese, consecrated two or more bishops, established one or two colleges, and civilized the people generally.

The most popular of the legends regarding the saint is that which gives him credit for driving all the snakes out of Ireland.

Colored glass, on a framework of reinforced concrete, has been used for a new church at Dortmund, Germany. At night, when the building is lit up, the effect is said to be striking.

It is possible to enjoy all the thrills of flying banking, stalling, spinning, and other aerial "stunts"—in a model airplane which does not leave the ground. It is installed in a London sports club.

The great fire in Chicago in October, 1871, destroyed 18,000 buildings with an estimated loss of $200,000,000.

"IN THE lit of Irish laughter, you can hear the angels sing" . . . and occasionally, a bit of the devil himself with his devilish tones . . . thank you St. Patrick's day came on Tuesday this year . . . yesterday was one of those Mondays . . . supposing St. Patrick's day had been yesterday . . . imagine mixing green with blue . . . tsk, tsk . . . begorra . . .

Awright now, how many people have seen the first robin?

SOMETHING FOR THE KIDDIES

Sure, an' top o' the afternoon to you (darnt, who said this a morning newspaper?) and old Uncle O'Jonah does pass out his blessing to y'all. An' to all you young blatherskites, we g'v a free picture which you can color with the green of dear old Erin, begorra. Sure an' it's a grand idea for the youngsters. Can you but see the ma'rens dancing but what you want to give 'em a bit o' color? An' never forget the shamrock in the gentleman's coat!

There's a new song out—"By Special Permission of the Copyright Owners . . ."

Something like that was bound to come. Think of all the free and unintentional advertising it's going to get.

The Germans have invented an umbrella which sings in the rain. Somebody else wants one which will yell "Help, stop, etc." whenever someone tries to borrow it. Even better would be one which, when you need it, will run downtown—or back home and merrily chirp "Here I am."

This umbrella business is a racket, anyway—a put-up job.

A fellow over in England, who claims to be a direct descendant of the Tudors, has been trying to persuade King George to get off the throne. The other day he was making a speech, pointing out that he, not George, belonged on the throne. Did the people throw things at him? No, they just laughed and hooted and went home. He didn't get to first base.

In America a guy like that would be arrested, hung and investigated by a senate committee.

THE CURE

I used to look with wistful face Upon the druggist's candy case Until he gave the job to me His willing messenger to be, And said: "Whenever I employ A little bright-eyed errand boy I lead him to the candy case And say to him: 'Eat all you wish!'"

"I shall not care how much you eat If you will keep the show case neat. I want you now to bear in mind That candy must be glass be shined, And when nothing else to do I think it would be well if you Would overlook the candy case And see that everything's in place."

Oh, happy fortune for a boy! Oh, task that carried so much joy! All day it seemed from jar and tray And visit the hospital or other institution where they have infants for adoption. Your own doctor will tell you the best places, if you don't know. When you come across one that captivates you—what I mean takes possession of your heart so that you just can't get away from it, and not just strikes you as cunning or sweet—don't go daffy about the kid until you've brought your doctor around to give the youngster the once over. So be sure your blimbo is sound physically. If you doctor finds the child sound physically, don't worry your head a bit about any little question of heredity.

Now having had the doctor's approval of your choice, arrange to take the child home on trial for a month or two, before proceeding with formal or final adoption. I am not particularly mushy about babies. Indeed it gives me a pain in the neck to hear anybody call 'em "kiddies" or to see strangers or visitors kiss 'em. But I can assure John Q. Doe, Jr., and his wife and relatives and neighbors and fellow citizens generally that any guy who can't love adopted babies as well as his own blood is a queer one. In view of the availability of babies for adoption everywhere it strikes me as a selfish, hard-boiled, unnatural and unadmirable thing for any couple to go on years and years without the blessing of children in the home. I don't see how they can stand it.

HERE'S NEWS—SOME PEOPLE WANT A BABY!

Today's Best Letter comes from Brooklyn and is signed something like this: John Q. Doe, Jr. Young Doe does not give his age, but from the texture of his note paper and color of the typewriter ribbon I estimate he is thirty-seven and Mrs. Doe is not far behind. I like John style immensely—indeed that is one reason why I chose his letter to-day—although there is still room for improvement in it. This however, need not discourage young Mr. Doe, for there are millions of executives just as wasteful as he is in American business life.

Dr. Wm. Brady,
Dear Sir:

I would appreciate any information you may send me regarding adopting a Baby.

Thanking you in advance for any information you may send me, I am Yours truly,

John Q. Doe, Jr.,
The second paragraph of the young man's letter is entirely superfluous. Besides one really can't give thanks in advance. Dr. Webster will explain it if you care to know. But the first paragraph is mighty good news to me. Sometimes, you see, I get so gloomy and pessimistic that I have to resort to an hour with Schopenhauer in order to tighten the chuckle bolts. Arthur is the best medicine I know when one's chuckle gets out of order.

The first thing I should advise young Doe in this baby leasing business is to plan on installing at least TWO babies in the place you're trying to make into a home. If not at once time, then one a year or so after the other. A lone child in any family is out of luck, and so is the family.

Next, every holiday or afternoon off take the wife AND a basket of toys, cats or even picture books, and visit the hospital or other institution where they have infants for adoption. Your own doctor will tell you the best places, if you don't know. When you come across one that captivates you—what I mean takes possession of your heart so that you just can't get away from it, and not just strikes you as cunning or sweet—don't go daffy about the kid until you've brought your doctor around to give the youngster the once over. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Toxin-Antitoxin Goes Through Skin
Guss-Tin will make you sit up and take notice! (A Wet).

Answer—Ho-hum, not much. "This" is a clipping of one of those funny items from Vienna, telling how some professor has discovered that toxin-antitoxin (for immunization against diphtheria) has an "improved effect" whatever that might be—it is rubbed into the skin after the skin has been reddened with a mustard plaster. A mustard plaster sometimes makes a fellow sit up, but not this time. Even our American professors have not succeeded in making the unbroken skin absorb anything, so we should not expect Vienna professors to get further.

Aneurism
What is aneurism of an artery and how does it affect the patient? (Mrs. A. S.)

Answer—Aneurism is a ballooning or dilation of an artery at some point where the arterial wall has been softened or weakened by disease. This being a health column we leave the symptoms to the private consultation of the patient and his physician.

The Sanitary Bridge
Please advise whether removable or non-removable bridge is preferable, and why. Two upper bicuspids on right side have been extracted. My dentist advises non-removable but I would like an unbiased opinion. (W. S. W.)

Answer—I should advise you to change dentists, choosing one in whom you can place confidence. Of course your dentist knows better than any one else which type of denture will be more satisfactory for the purpose to be served in your case. Theoretically a removable denture may be more hygienic than anything permanently fixed, but practically I should leave that decision to the judgment of my dentist, or, as I say, if I lacked faith in his professional skill or honesty, I should change dentists.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

O H, GEE! cried Carpy, "Take a look! Is this a dream, or just a brook? Not that it makes much difference, but it's strange as it can be. Just gaze into the water and why I say this you'll understand. Each time I look a flickering reflection I can see."

"Tis queer how such things come to pass. Why, it's just like a looking glass," said Scouty as he took a look. And then he sighed and said, "Why, my reflection's not so bad. I guess I am a handsome lad. I'd best not look at me too long, or 'twill go to my head."

This made the others laugh out loud. Said Carpy, "Say, you're rather proud! But it's the hat you're wearing that is making you look neat. I gazed at you down in the stream and, frankly, I think you're a scream. Just look at my reflection, if you want a real good treat!"

Then Clowdy, frown upon his brow, cried, "Come, come, boys! Don't argue now. Let's leave the stream and hike along the winding country road." And then he jumped very high and loudly shouted, "Me, oh my!" Said Carpy, "Look what scared him. It was just a little toad."

They hiked along a mile or so. The Travel Man then shouted, "Oh, we're walking right into a treat. Just look what's up ahead. Sorry hunters with a wagon. They've likely had a hunting day. Two antelopes are strung up tight and both of them are dead."

One of the hunters cried "Hello! I guess you lads would like to know just where we got these animals. We'll tell you how 'twas done. They ran across our path today. We raised our guns and banded away. Of course we both were lucky, and to watch them was fun."

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Quietly and unobtrusively, in the latter days of this congress a dapper, well-groomed, senator from the Pacific coast has been making a name for himself on the hill.

He is Charles McNary of Oregon, assistant to Jim Watson of Indiana, the republican floor leader of the senate.

Those wishing to get the "inside" on questions of importance in the senate long have been in the habit of talking it over with McNary. All know that he keeps his ear about as close to the ground as any of his colleagues; that very little goes on around the capital with which he is not familiar.

Since last December, it has become apparent that Watson has turned over much of the leadership work to him. He has handled the details for the big Hoosier leader more and more as the days passed. There are some who will tell you that it was McNary who finally brought peace in the drought relief controversy.

His temperament is the sort required for one in such a position. The senators like him and respect his ability. His voice is soft, though when he desires his words can hit home with telling effect. But at such times he leaves no hard feelings in their wake.

He keeps his temper if at times he seems to be a little impatient. And senators, regardless of which side of the chamber, feel that they can count on McNary to be fair and reasonable.

A Stanford university man and a close personal friend of President Hoover, he nevertheless is regarded as independent in his actions. Those who know him best say that he will make concessions to get the best obtainable legislation, but that he will never surrender a principle to do so.

He Whistles
Though he will be 57 years old his next birthday, he looks youthful.

He is always well-groomed—one of the best dressed men in the senate. He walks with a springing step, has a winning smile, is tall, slender and a blond.

When he is not in the senate, usually he may be found playing golf with Senator Harrison of Mississippi and Senator Couzens of Michigan. He admits that most of the time he is either in a sand trap or a bunker.

His home in Oregon is a farm, originally owned by his grandfather. There he has a trout pond where he feeds ground liver to his pets. He has built a high observation tower which affords a commanding view of his many acres of prunes. There's a specially constructed sand trap

CITY EXPENDITURES

Editor Post-Crescent: I have just read an advertisement in the March 13th, issue of the Appleton Review and signed by four of our present aldermen, in which they state that city expenditures have been reduced $115,339.86, and that the loans at the banks have been reduced.

In checking this up I find that in 1929 and 1930 the city spent for improvements as follows:

	1929	1930
Ornamental Lights	$22000.00	None
Bridges	43910.49	$2129.70
Sewers	$2378.32	$6256.56
Subway	60617.57	None
Total for Improvements	$215805.38	$45696.26

Reduction of $170110.12
From this you can see that by omitting these permanent improvements the decrease should have been $170,110.12 instead of $115,339.86, that is providing the other expenses had not increased.

It seems to me that some of these four aldermen voted for the sewer on Brewster-st and the subway on Wisconsin-ave over the mayor's vetoes which increased the expense in 1929 also that some of them must have voted for the new bridges and the ornamental lights.

Am at a loss as to how to figure a reduction in bank loans for after collecting the taxes for 1929 the city paid the banks $210,000, after collecting the taxes for 1930 the city paid the banks $220,000 an increase of $10,000. I wonder if income tax blanks could be figured that way.

Am also wondering why Phillip Vogt of the Sixth ward did not sign this advertisement and take some of this credit.
Respectfully submitted,
ALBERT C. RULE.

CORRECTS ERROR

Editor Post-Crescent—I wish to make a correction in my letter as published in the Post-Crescent, of March 15th, under the caption "Milk tests." In regard to selling out side the organization the penalty, instead of $500 should have read 30 per cent of all dairy products sold outside the organization. In other words it's like a tax-meter the longer you stay out the more it costs. Will you please give this space in your People's Forum column.

CHURCH BUYS PROPERTY NEAR ITS PREMISES

Congregation Expects to Convert Residence into Parsonage

The purchase of the McCormick property at the rear of Mount Olive Lutheran church was completed Monday by the Mount Olive congregation. The house now on the site will be used for a parsonage unless the church decides to build a new home for its minister.

The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer preached on Father Forgive Them; for They Know Not What They Do Sunday morning, and at the Lenten service Wednesday evening his subject will be The Shameful Flight of All the Apostles of Jesus.

The Owl and the Bat was the subject of Dr. L. D. Utts' sermon at the corporate church service for DeMolay Sunday at All Saints Episcopal church. Basing his talk on the command that unclean animals should not be eaten by Jews, Dr. Utts warned against melancholy, slandering, half-and-half methods, changeableness, slothfulness and laziness. John Q. Hansen addressed a woman's class on the religions of India Tuesday, and on Thursday evening the Lenten service will be conducted by the Very Rev. Frederick G. Grant, S. T. D. dean of Western Theological seminary.

The Seven Last Words of Christ on the cross, a sacredatorio, was presented at the Sunday morning service at the Congregational church by the choir and soloists. All Boy Scouts of the city were guests at the motion picture service in the evening, at which "Sarah and Son" was featured. The church cabinet will meet Tuesday evening, and at 7:30 Thursday evening Dr. H. E. Peabody will preach on The Difference the Church Makes to Me. La. V. Maesch will present the last of his series of organ recitals at 4:30 Friday afternoon.

Rev. Froehlike III
The Rev. Philip A. C. Froehlike, pastor of St. Matthew church, is confined to his home with illness. The Lenten service this week will be preached by the Rev. L. E. Mielke of Shiocton, and Sunday morning the Rev. C. Witschonne, superintendent of the Lutheran kindergarten at Wauwatosa, delivered both the English and German sermons.

A motion picture showing the life and teachings of Christ, filmed in the Holy Land at a cost of three million dollars, was presented at the Baptist church Sunday evening. In the morning the Rev. E. Hasselblad preached on A Smoldering Ember, or winning people for the kingdom of God. The Rev. R. A. Garrison will preach on Christ on the Mountain at the Lenten service Thursday evening. The E. Y. P. U. banquet, "A World Adventure", will be given Friday evening.

Preaching on the Stages of Citizenship. The Rev. R. A. Garrison told of the four types of people who make up the universe: those of minimum standards, including persons from the criminal up to the class of person who does no more than he has to keep out of trouble; those of personal endeavor, embracing those who are personally good, are homebuilders, and who take their place in the world's work and earn their living; the public servants, who are informed in public affairs, serve as public officers, conduct their business on a service basis, and support some church; and those of sacrificial devotion, who are willing to sacrifice themselves rather than be a traitor to duty or to country. The Rev. E. Hasselblad will preach at the Lenten service Thursday evening. The Ladies Aid met Tuesday afternoon.

Secretary To Speak
The Rev. L. F. Gast of Green Bay will preach at the Lenten service at First English Lutheran church Wednesday evening. George Werner, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. will address the Brotherhood Tuesday evening. The Rev. P. C. Reuter preached on Life's Two Ways at the Sunday Morning service.

Mr. Garrison of the Presbyterian church will preach at Emmanuel Evangelical church Wednesday evening, and starting on Thursday the Rev. F. W. Huebner of Flat Rock.

Who's Who On The Appleton Post-Crescent

(This is the eighth of a series of articles about members of the staff of the Appleton Post-Crescent. The articles will seek to acquaint readers of this newspaper with these persons as individuals and also will discuss the nature of their work. Members of the staff are presented in the order of their length of service. The ninth article will appear tomorrow.)

Harry Leith's boyhood ambition was to be a doctor like his Uncle Rob Leith, city physician for Appleton in 1910. However, he changed his mind after he started on his advertising career with the Post-Crescent.

When he was in the eighth grade of the Fifth Ward school, he started in as collector of advertising accounts. During his summer vacations he worked in the composing room. During 1920-21 he solicited advertising for the classified advertising department. His present work in the display department began after he graduated from Appleton high school in 1923.

Mr. Leith was born in the town of Center, near Appleton and came to this city with his family in 1915. The first job that he ever had was delivering telegrams for the Western Union. He married Miss Jessie Small, Appleton, in 1927. They live in their own home at 421 E. Brewster.

While Mr. Leith was in high school he was a member of the student council, the cashier of the high school bank, secretary of the H-Y organization, secretary of the Radio club, and an interested member in the high school debate team. Mr. Leith is a member of the Masonic lodge and served as secretary of the DeMolay chapter of which he was a charter member. He is interested in boy scout work.

Ohio, will take charge of the services until Palm Sunday.

The Rev. E. Franz will conduct the Lenten service at St. John church Wednesday evening, and on Thursday evening he will be in charge of the English service at First Reformed church. The Ladies Aid of Reformed church will meet Thursday afternoon. Sunday morning Mr. Franz preached on Plotting Against Jesus and the Consequences.

The Every Member go-to-church campaign conducted at St. John church resulted in an over-crowded church Sunday morning. The Rev. W. R. Wetzel preached on The Love of God Which Is in Christ. Next Sunday there will be a presentation of confitments at the morning service.

A program in honor of St. Patrick will be given at Columbia hall by St. Mary congregation Tuesday evening.

The Methodists will hold a series of 17 neighborhood parties Tuesday evening, and on Friday evening the Men's club will meet.

Text From Isaiah
Taking his text from the prophet Isaiah, the Rev. Theodore Marth preached on the theme, "there is joy for Christians even in the Passion time", at Zion Lutheran church Sunday morning. The Zion Lutheran Mission society will meet Wednesday afternoon, the fifth English and for several years was Scoutmaster of Troop 8, connected with First Congregational church. He is a member of that church. During the summer weather he likes to swim and play golf.

Mr. Leith's special forte in the advertising department of the Post-Crescent is to supervise special advertising editions. It is his particular duty to lay out the copy for special advertising sections and to arrange for its sale and publication. In addition to this special duty he lays out and writes copy for a number of regular advertisers in The Post-Crescent.

Lenten service will be held at 7:45 Wednesday evening, and the German service Thursday evening.

The Rev. D. E. Bosserman preached on Freedom in Christ at Trinity English Lutheran church Sunday morning. The Missionary society will meet Tuesday evening, and the midweek Lenten service will be held at 7:45 Thursday evening.

The Rev. F. M. Brandt will preach on Jesus Christ, My Sure Defense at the Lenten services Wednesday

STOCK EXCHANGE GOVERNORS WATCH FLOOR OPERATIONS

Seek to Check Excessive Manipulation of Securities

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York. (CPA)—Evidence that the governors of the New York stock exchange are keeping a closer watch on "floor operations," in order to check an excessive manipulation of securities, is given in a report of action that has just been taken with respect to the group of brokers known as "specialists."

It is understood that about a dozen "specialists" were called before the board of governors a few days ago and cautioned against bidding up stocks, whose markets they quite largely control, in the face of poor earnings and divided reductions. The argument was that this tended to create an artificial situation and one that has been severely criticized by the public, which still remembers the rampant manipulation of stocks a year ago when earnings were dropping and dividends were on the point of being reduced.

The market letter of a member of the exchange discusses the situation of the specialists as follows:

Would Hamper Pools
"The more stringent enforcement of the rules governing trading by specialists in their own stocks is likely to widen spreads between sales and reduce floor trading volume. On the other hand, this measure is unquestionably a constructive one, as it will undoubtedly, to a large extent, tend to limit trades printed on the tape to actual transactions by investors and speculators and result in the market more closely approximating actual conditions. This rule will undoubtedly hamper the operations of professionals and pools."

The governors of the stock exchange have had their ear to the ground the past year and have recognized the rumblings of public discontent over some of the methods of members of the exchange which are detrimental to the interests of investors. They have taken a more positive and a more open official attitude on short selling and bear raiding.

and Thursday evenings. Sunday morning his subject was Jesus the True prophet. The Ladies Aid held a party Tuesday afternoon.

ing than at any time in the past. Individual brokers have been called before the committee to explain why they have sold such and such a stock in such and such volume contrary to the apparent situation in the stock. Last October there was a definite agreement between many members of the exchange not to lend stocks to houses that were known to be operating for bear pools.

Since that time a high percentage of all of the stocks listed on the exchange have loaned "flat" or at a premium which reflects a disposition to regulate short selling and, at the same time, is one of the natural effects of easy money conditions. It is understood that the governors of the stock exchange are also considering some important changes in the methods of accounting by corporations whose stocks are accepted for listing on the exchange. The effort in this case will be to eliminate a great deal of the confusion that arises from misinterpretation by investors of items in the corporation balance sheet and whose importance is variously regarded by equally competent certified public accountants.

False Hopes on Excess Fat

Some Ways Harmful—Some Absurd

Many false hopes are offered to the overweight. Some are harmful, some absurd. All disappoint. Do what modern doctors do. They combat the gland cause. It is time to end the fakes in this line, for the good of all.

Your Doctor Knows Best

Medical science has discovered that a great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. One function is to help change food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. People grow over-fat, despite diet and activity, if that gland secretion is scant.

That theory is now accepted the world over. So modern physicians everywhere combat that cause. They do this by feeding the over-fat the factor which is lacking. No starvation, no over-exercise, no harmful drugs. The results in late years have amazed the world. Excess fat has been fast disappearing. Slender figures are the vogue. New health, new beauty, new joy, new efficiency have come to countless people.

This is to urge that you use what doctors use, not what they denounce.

Basis of Marmola

Marmola prescription tablets supply this new, scientific help. They are prepared by a world-famous medical laboratory to fit the average case. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Users have told others, and the use has grown.

All folks know how excess fat has been going in those years. All can see in every circle how slender figures reign. It is evident that the world has found a new way to fight fat.

Now Fat is Folly

Excess fat has now rarely an excuse. That blight to beauty, health and vim has found a scientific foe. It is easy to combat a major cause, and multitudes have proved it. Take four Marmola tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Be moderate in all things, but don't starve, don't over-do. Fight fat in Nature's way, by supplying what Nature is failing to supply. You will then be doing what the best physicians do today.

Formula in Box

Marmola has no secrets. The formula appears in every box. A book explains the reason for results. You will know what you are taking and why. As the pounds drop away there come other results—all explained in the book. New health, new vitality. The gland secretion which fights fat inspires other ductless glands. The good results are often far-reaching and amazing. Marmola is supplied by druggists—$1 a box. Go try it, read the book in box, then watch results. Stop foolish treatments—do the right thing. Then, when you get the results you seek, tell other folks who need it. Go start today.

Founding Of Auxiliary Is Observed

THE twelfth anniversary of the founding of the American Legion Auxiliary was observed at the meeting of the local unit Monday night at Odd Fellow hall. A large birthday cake containing twelve candles was lighted and set in the middle of the room during the meeting. Ninety-nine members were present, among them about 20 charter members of the unit.

It was announced that this year Mrs. August Arens will receive the annual prize awarded each year to the individual who enrolls the largest number of new members in the state. Mrs. Arens secured 61 members this year. She will receive a gold pin.

March has been designated as Community Service month. The local unit will provide 200 quarts of milk to children in Appleton as its part in this work. The committee in charge of this project includes Mrs. W. Vandenberg, Mrs. Gustav Keller, Sr., and Mrs. Stanley Staidl.

The Auxiliary will take part in the Legion poppy sale again this year, according to an announcement. Mrs. Blanche Jannes and Mrs. George Butz will have charge of the sale of the large poppies, and Mrs. Fred Heinritz and Mrs. Elmer Schabo will be captains of the local teams for selling the small poppies on the streets.

Second In Membership

April 16, the anniversary of America's entry into the World War, was set as a deadline in the membership drive in Appleton. The Appleton unit is now in second place in membership in the state with 323 members. Neenah holds first place with 380 members, and Appleton is making an effort to pass that mark before April 16.

Mrs. George Limpert, Miss Lillian Weymouth, Mrs. George Hogreiver, and Mrs. Clarence Baetz will arrange for Memorial Day activities for the Auxiliary. It was decided to send cookies to the soldiers in hospitals for Mothers' Day in May. Mrs. Louis Lohman was appointed chairman of a food sale to be held this month.

The next meeting on April 20 will begin at 7 o'clock to allow for time for a card party to follow the session. The committee in charge of the party consists of Mrs. Floyd Hardacker, Mrs. Ada Blake, Mrs. William Fish, Mrs. William Ferron, Mrs. George Puth, Mrs. O. W. Dehne, Mrs. M. Glasse, Mrs. August Arens, Mrs. Lillian Weymouth, Mrs. Otto Riets, and Mrs. H. P. Craig.

A social hour followed the meeting Monday night. Special prizes were awarded to Mrs. August Arens, Mrs. Ada Blake, Mrs. George Schneider, Mrs. Earl Lutz, and Mrs. George Hogreiver. Mrs. Clarence Baetz won the bridge prize, Mrs. Carl Gorow the prize at schafkopf, and Mrs. William Retza and dice award.

Tour Party Is Enjoyed At Church

THE Shamrock and Cachelot crews of First Methodist church entertained at a "trip to Europe" party Friday night at the church at which about 140 persons were present. Dinner was served, the various courses being picked up as "cargo" at different points enroute.

The first course was served in Chinatown, New York, and was accompanied by a group of Chinese songs by Dr. S. J. Kloehn and Bert Fourness, and "Sing Song Girl" by Mrs. Mabel Meyer. The second "cargo" was taken on at Ireland, and at this time Mrs. Meyer sang "Mother Macdore," Edward Mumm presented a violin selection, and Irish songs were sung by the assembly. Olives were served in Spain, after which George Nixon, in Spanish costume, sang "The Spanish Cavalier" and a comedy number. The audience joined in singing "Juanita." A cargo of grape juice was taken on in France, and Carl McKee gave a burlesque sketch of Napoleon. In Italy, fruit was served in the form of salad. Miss Lois Kloehn, in costume, gave several Italian dialect readings, after which the ships returned to the United States, the crews and passengers singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

The last course, dessert, was served in the Methodist church and Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor gave a talk. All joined in singing "Home, Sweet Home." Waiters and waitresses for the supper were dressed in sailor suits, and decorations were carried out in green, to harmonize with the spirit of St. Patrick's day.

A business and social meeting of Zion Lutheran mission society of Zion Lutheran church will take place at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the school auditorium. Hostesses will be Mrs. Mabel Sager, Mrs. Lorena Schultz, Mrs. Elsie Stecker, Mrs. Ella Stark, and Mrs. Anna Stead. The entertainment committee includes Mrs. Jennie Buchert and Mrs. Effie Buske.

Zion Lutheran Brotherhood of Zion Lutheran church will meet at 7:45 Tuesday evening at the school auditorium. Regular business will be discussed.

Teach Child To Exercise His Courage

BY ANGELO PATRI
Recently I have had three letters from three different children telling me that when they had to take an examination they were so scared that everything they knew flew out of their heads and they failed. They were sure they knew the work but the thought of the examination filled them with fear and brought them to defeat.

Now fear of this kind is born of experience. Sometimes or other these children had a bad time with a paper. The work was beyond them either because it was not well graded—that has happened—or that they were ill prepared. The too, has happened. The memory of that failure stayed long after the cause of it had been forgotten and each time they looked at an examination paper the fear returned. The only way to quell the fear is to achieve success.

That is not as impossible as it sounds. First the mind of the child must be prepared. The reason of the fear explained. The child must acknowledge to himself that he has the power, that is, the information he needs, the intelligence to use it, and the endurance to carry through a hard five minutes,—and he will succeed.

And that is not as easy to do as it sounds. Once a child tells himself that he is afraid, that this fear is the reason for his failure, he clings tightly to this idea. You see the fear provides a very good excuse for failure. The child is assured in his own mind that he is a hundred per cent good in the subject, only his fear stops him from showing the world his power. He would rather fail by not trying than take a chance on making an effort and failing. Fear has him coming and going. He has to get rid of the fear.

First we must build up the child's health. Take nothing for granted about this but have the experts at the clinic examine him for physical causes of mental worry. Then treat him as ordered by the expert. Begin at the same time to give him the mental treatment he needs. Teach him to think courage.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped addressed envelope for reply.

age. Teach him to keep in mind the three words, to meditate upon them daily—courage, intelligence, endurance. He knows he is brave. Saying so strengthens his conviction. But he does not understand how to release his intelligence. That is a matter of mystery to the wisest, but by calling upon it, by releasing the body from the tension of fear, and this is done by thinking, COURAGE, he succeeds in freeing his intelligence from the weight of the fear, and it works.

Endurance is to be cultivated by simply holding on. From minute to minute the child in fear is to say, "I am brave. I will hold on until this passes. It is passing and I am free to do my work in the full power of my intelligence."

Train a child to think this way, to control himself this way, and you will put into his spirit something that is beyond price. Fear is the deadly enemy of growth. It can be laid. Believe it yourself and then teach that belief to the child.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE courtroom was crowded the next day when the Merryman family took their places around the defendant's table. Corinne's lips were very red, her skin was ivory and rose, and her dark eyes sparkled. Only by looking deep into them . . . deeper than anyone had time to do . . . could the tragedy of something that had been lovely and now was very broken be seen. Her eyes were a slight blue that sparkled with the gleam of woodland fires until it grew orange, and her short fur jacket matched.

Sue watched her and wondered if she really cared so much about Harry. Then she saw Harry himself coming into the room. He made his way to the table. Corinne caught her breath, a little too quickly. But she smiled for the benefit of the spectators and when Harry took the chair next to her she even leaned over and spoke. She would play the game, head up, she was telling herself!

Sue had seen her own face in the mirror in the hall as she entered the courtroom and she had been surprised because it hadn't changed. She still had dark blue eyes, and they were wide and bright. She had almost believed that they would be dimmed with fear. Her dark hair curled around the small triangle of green ribbon which matched her suede pumps and the crepe de chine in the neck and sleeves of her black crepe dress.

But when her eyes rested on her mother's face she realized that age can't conceal its heartache break under a disguise and make the brave pretense of youth. When the inner citadel of righteousness and goodness is being battered the banners go down. Her mother's face was very white, and her lips were purple. But her chin was high and Sue noticed that it was still firm and defiant. And her eyes, pitiful in defeat, flamed still.

Her father sat quietly, his hands locked loosely on the table before him. He was silent, proclaiming his newness to the courtroom by that strange quality which new clothes have, when the personality of the wearer hasn't made them adaptable just yet.

Ted and Jack, tall, broad shouldered, commanding, seemed to be taking in the situation rather lightly. But she understood the tense lines at the corner of Ted's mouth and she knew that look in Jack's eyes.

"The fight is on," Corinne murmured. "Remember the song we always sang at church? It's about time for the trumpet sound to ring out, and then they'll start the button, button - who's - got - the - button game, only of course they are using money this time."

Harry didn't answer. Corinne had expected him to. He was playing a part just as she was, but he would make no unnecessary gestures. Sue was thinking the same thing. And wishing that the trial would start. Why didn't the bailiff get up and start his "Hear ye, hear ye" or whatever it was the bailiff said when he opened the court.

A blinding flash interrupted. Oh, yes, of course, the papers had sent their photographers for pictures. She had forgotten that they would do that. Then she noticed Donald Payne, the red-headed reporter whom she had met at the time of her kidnapping. He was sitting at the press table, grinning broadly. As he caught Sue's eyes he came over.

"Cheer up, Miss Merryman. This is all just grandstand play. Your father will be out of here in no time. But tell me, do you take your eggs fried or poached and what's your favorite movie sheik? I have to fill a column with human interest stuff commonly known as apple sauce."

Sue knew that he was talking to divert her. Jack came over.

"Learn anything?" he asked.

"Not a darned thing," Donald Payne answered.

"Anything about what?" Sue asked softly as Jack turned back to his client.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Virginia Vane: What can I do with a thoroughly unreasonable husband? We have only a little money, and I want to save it for the future. He would also like to have a home of his own one day but he wants me to wear stunning clothes. It is an absolute fetish with him. He is always pointing out other women and admiring their general appearance, nagging at me, because I do not appear as well-dressed as women who take nothing of paying a hundred dollars for a dress. I make my own clothes and they're quite good enough. I he were reasonable he would be proud of the sacrifice I make. Instead of which he sometimes seems positively ashamed of me.

TRIOUBLED WIFE.

You ought to do a little bit of compromising. You've got one bet in your bonnet and your husband has another.

You're perfectly willing to dress nicely, if you can, at the same time save, if you money to make the future secure. Your husband is quite willing to save for the rainy day, if at the same time he can keep his looking smart. Somewhere in the middle lies the course you must follow.

Don't make the mistake of supposing that your husband is going to be proud of you because you save his money and look like last year's almanac. If he is a man who pays a great deal of attention to women's clothes, he will actually be humiliated at your appearing dowdy and frumpy.

And since he gives you the money to buy clothes, make yourself look smart. It's only fair for you to do what he wants to a certain extent. You mustn't get your mouth in a determined "set-it-hat-and-announce that you WILL look like a hump for the sake of the future."

CHANGE YOUR PERFUME WITH THE SEASONS

BY ALICIA HART

Spring is a good time to change your perfume. The smell of country and fresh earth changes the air. The new spring flowers give the whole world a new and lifting fragrance. Opening the stopper to an entirely new kind of perfume has its effect upon you.

You probably will want to keep your favorite perfume for evenings, or formal occasions. But, just in case your favorite perfume is one of the mixed scents, I suggest you go in for a fresh single flower fragrance for wear with your new spring suit.

A good idea is to consider what kind of flowers you would like to wear on your lapel. If it is an elegant navy blue or black spring suit you have picked, with a delicate, hand-made white georgette, chiffon or lace blouse, gardenia perfume would be lovely, for you can quite picture a white gardenia on your shoulder.

If you happen to like rather simple, home-spun types of clothes, there is a lovely acacia perfume that smells like fields of new-mown hay. Lilac perfume, in style again this year for the first time in a couple of decades, is perfectly lovely with one of the new gray suits or ensembles or anything that is delicately spring-like in tone and cut.

Sportswomen, those genuine outdoor folks who suggest wind-swept hills in their fresh charm, now can have a wide variety of choice in spring flower perfume. The crispness of lavender certainly suits them. So does the fresh pungency of pure violet perfume.

For the delicately complexioned, the dainty girls with a wistful bit of old-fashioned clinging vine about them still, in spite of jobs, the vote and the popularity of cigarettes, there is a new perfume which combines orange blossoms and jasmine. It is suggestive of all kinds of romantic places and situations. A little of it is lovely.

Last, but not least, come the new kinds of perfume, created for men, which are lovely for women too. There is one that suggests leather, another woods.

Whatever you really prefer in the way of perfume for steady use,

MY NEIGHBOR SAYS—

Cakes, cookies, sandwiches, pastries, croquettes, mashed potatoes, and gelatine salads and desserts can be cut out shamrock shaped and used for serving March 17.

When paint brushes have been laid aside for some time they become very hard and dry. To remove this, heat vinegar to the boiling point and immerse the brushes. Then allow them to simmer for about 15 minutes or more in strong soapuds, and they will be as good as new.

When using walnuts in cooking, crush them with a rolling-pin. It saves much time and is as satisfactory as cutting with a knife.

To keep parsley fresh put the stems in a glass of water to which a slice of lemon or one teaspoon of vinegar has been added.

A teaspoon of vinegar mixed into frosting will keep it from breaking when cut.

LAZY GLANDS

Foul the Scalp!....

If the tiny glands in your scalp have fallen asleep—look out! The consequences won't end with just dandruff! It may take a year or more for the pore-filth to reach the surface.

Scaly scalps that make you turn your eyes away, began with "just a little dandruff."

The next commonest sign of gland trouble is when the color of one's hair begins to fade, or becomes streaked.

There is only one thing that will ever help heads in this state of stagnation: you must stimulate the tiny glands that feed the hair and give it color. Massage will do this. Use the fingers. Dip them in

INLAND WATERWAYS PRODUCING PROFIT

Washington—(AP)—The Inland Waterways corporation, controlling the vast activities of the government-operated river transportation system, produced a net profit for 1930 nearly as large as its loss during the preceding year.

Despite decreased river levels due to the drought and general business depression, Major General Thomas Q. Ashburn, chairman of the corporation, will report to Secretary Hurd a net income of $65,177.03 for 1930, as compared with a loss of $72,738.08 in 1929.

Simultaneously, he will advise the secretary the corporation now has $7,000,000 on hand for further expansion of its 2,500 mile transportation system.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU "PISCES"

If March 15th is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 11:15 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 6:30 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8:15 p. m.

The planetary aspects of March 15th are favorable for commercial enterprise, but are unsatisfactory so far as social life is concerned. After sunset, conditions improve and augur a more restful and less energetic atmosphere. Guard against impulsive words and deeds.

A child born on this March 15th will be self-reliant and concentrated. It will always know what it wants, and go after it with vim and confidence. It will be affectionate, clean minded, energetic and unselfish. As a lover it will always be constant.

If your birthday falls on March 15th, you lack concentration, and scatter rather than focus. You promise, if this line of action be uncurbed, to become a Jack of all trades and a master of none. In this highly specialized age, it behooves you to settle on that which you can do, and would like to do, best. Then bend all your energies to the prosecution of the task that you choose until success crowns your efforts.

You are rather disposed to speculate on what the future holds in store, instead of working at the job near at hand. Everything comes to those who hustle whilst they wait. You are easily discouraged, forgetting that the most outstanding successes have only been achieved after repeated failures. A setback often illumines the road to final accomplishment.

You are domesticated and home-loving and will be loyal and true, not only to your kith and kin, but to your friends. You are intellectual, and fond of good reading. Although you evince an interest in sports, you take no active part in them. You are misinfluenced by them. You are uninfluenced by other's opinions, and are not much of a stickler for conventionalities, and

SERVANTS, CHAUFFEURS IMPORTANT IN ELECTION

London—(AP)—Household servants and chauffeurs in London's smart west end have become figures not to be ignored in the by-election campaign between Captain A. Duff Cooper and Sir Ernest Pether for a seat in the house of commons.

The "below stairs" staff will be honored guests in the drawing room of the marchioness of Hartington when Lady Diana Cooper—the captain's wife and better known as Lady Diana Manners—makes her debut this week as a public speaker. The marchioness' butler however, has written to the papers denying that pressure is being brought to

THE CHOCOLATE MALTED MILK To Drink at Home

In Youngsters—Growth Proves Health

A healthy boy or girl must gain in height and weight from month to month for fifteen years or more. The most important food for growth is good milk, but many children refuse to drink enough.

Mother, try adding two teaspoonsful of Thompson's Chocolate "Double Malted" to one or two glasses each day. The deliciously mild chocolate flavor of Thompson's would make anybody want to drink milk. Thousands of children growing up on it.

FREE LIFE LINE CHART—A free high, keeps track of the weight and height of the entire growing family. Send a postal for it to Thompson's Malted Milk Co., Inc., Waukegan, Wisconsin.

GRADE SCHOOLS OPEN BASKETBALL TOURNAMENTS

Neenah—A series of grade school basketball tournaments have been started at both Kimberly and Roosevelt schools. Basketball is started by Coach Jorgensen in the sixth grades and each grade up to those in high school has its individual tournament.

Every boy attending the grade schools is eligible to take part in these tournaments. A similar state occurs in high school where there is a series of basketball tournaments under way during the winter. Basketball probably is the largest sport here, as was evidenced by the large crowds that attended every game during the past season.

SAUNDERS RESIGNS AT NORTH SHORE CLUB

Neenah—Arthur Saunders, former professional at the Neenah-Menasha Golf course who resigned to accept a similar position at the North Shore Golf club has resigned his latter position to take charge of the Bailey Harbor course near Superior. Bay. Lee Schneider, Oshkosh, has been named to succeed Saunders.

The Neenah-Menasha club, under direction of Joe Hendry, Chilton, will be open early in May, it is expected.

DESCRIBES INSTITUTE OF PAPER CHEMISTRY

Neenah—Dr. Otto Kress, Appleton, head of the institute of paper chemistry at Lawrence, spoke Monday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Neenah club at the club dining room. The course, which he opened with three students, now has a much larger enrollment. The course has expanded to such a degree as to warrant a new building, according to Dr. Kress.

BAND TO ACCOMPANY CAGERS TO MADISON

Neenah—Plans are on foot to take the entire high school band to pieces to Madison during the state basketball tournament which will start Wednesday, March 25. The Neenah team will defend its state championship title. Neenah will play the Racine Washington park team in its first game at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, March 25. The band made its first out-of-town tour when it accompanied the team to Oconto.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Neenah—The city council will meet Wednesday evening at the city hall. Advisability of opening Stevenson to the south city limits, as recommended by the city planning commission, will be discussed. Reports of the clearing of a road of oil will be submitted. The city council will also discuss the fire department has been practically dropped for the time being. The council failed to agree on plans for a new fire station and remodeling the city hall at a cost of approximately $50,000.

$72 BANKED BY 478 PUPILS AT NEENAH

Neenah—A total of $72.31 was deposited by 473 pupils of the grade schools Tuesday morning during the weekly banking period. At Lincoln school the total was $13.46 by 93 pupils; at Roosevelt school the total was $22.11 by 169 pupils; at McKinley school the total was $13.88 by 96 pupils and at the Washington school the total was $17.91 by 120 pupils. The total is somewhat lower than several weeks past, several of the grades having fallen down in deposits in some of the schools.

BECKER RETURNS TO HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Neenah—Wilfred Becker, who has been at St. Elizabeth hospital for the past week with injuries received when the auto in which he and William Hyland were riding collided with a Marietta car on the Appleton-Green Bay road, returned to his home here Monday afternoon. Hyland was killed, while Becker was cut about the face and body, and injured one of his legs.

NEENAH CAGERS START PRACTICE FOR TOURNNEY

Aged Founder Of Paper At Stoughton Succumbs

Stoughton, Wis.—(AP)—The 73-year-old founder of the Stoughton Courier-Hub, who retired from active direction of the daily newspaper a few years ago, died yesterday. The paper carried the following:

"It was densely hot that summer afternoon I trudged up N. Page street. Two cigars, the favorite brand, Jiggered together in my shirt pocket. I wondered if the perspiration would moisten the tobacco and stain my shirt. Then came the thought: How little a thing like that would mean to the man I was to see, thinking of one's self when on the way to see a friend. Shamefacedly, I glanced about, almost as if a chance passerby could see my shame and read my thoughts.

"There, in the comparative coolness of the porch, I sat with my friend and discussed the issue of the newspaper which had just come from the press. 'This is a hell of a sheet.' The accusation startled me, shook me from the pride I had felt over the two stories I had written.

"Passing through the paper, my friend commented on the type of news. Coming to an obituary, he leaned over in his chair, and with his hand, the one that had guided a pencil in writing many a pioneer newspaper story, the hand that could be raised in righteous wrath and shaken in the face of one who disagreed with him, or as easily raised to some kindness, with that hand placed on my knee, he said:

"Some day, young fellow, I'm going to shuffle off. And when I do, if you are on a newspaper here, I don't want to find you writing any of this nonsense about me. Just one line. Then he told me what that line should be.

"Arguments as to what people would think, what it would mean to his family, how my paper would be outdone by others, all were useless. And so I gave my solemn promise his wish would be carried out.

"One day I visited my friend in company with a second person. We had gone to my friend's room, he chattered gaily on politics, newspaper weather and prohibition. My friend was weary; so we sought to leave. Calling me back to his bedside, my friend said:

"Boy, there is not a very long time left. Remember your promise. Only one line, and my name only once."

"He clasped my hand with his. His hand had grown more white, thinner, and less steady than before, but it was the same hand that had done so much for me.

"The thousands who love him will understand; if there be any who did not, they will never know the difference, as with a sorrow that is keenly felt with an absolute disregard of the tributory ordinary he deserves, I set down the sad and final story of a friend:

"Charlie Crosse is dead."

ANNOUNCE WINNERS IN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Neenah—Winners of the handicap bowling tournament, featuring doubles play exclusively, on Hendy alleys Saturday and Sunday, were announced Tuesday by C. A. Hendy. V. Raleigh and J. Krysiak snared first place and a $75 prize by tapping the pins for a 1,345 count. A $6 second prize was awarded to R. Volsem and W. Hackstock, who scored 1,307 pins; L. Mottel and J. Krysiak took the third prize of $5 with a 1,280 count; while G. Russell and D. Ankam were awarded the fourth prize of $4 with a 1,266 score. R. Volsem and D. Wassenberg scored 1,249; B. Dornbrook and V. Raleigh topped 1,223 pins; and W. Hackstock and E. Mottel counted 1,218 to take fifth, sixth, and seventh prizes.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

OSCAR FUECHSEL
Neenah—Oscar Fuechsel, 44, former resident of this city died Monday morning at his home at Seattle, Wash., according to a message received Monday evening by his brother, Edward Fuechsel. The body will be brought to Neenah for burial. Mr. Fuechsel was born at Neenah and spent his younger days here, leaving for the west 21 years ago. His wife died 11 years ago. The message announcing the death stated that Mr. Fuechsel was found seriously ill at his home on Sunday night, and that death occurred early Monday morning. Surviving are the brother, Edward, of Neenah; and one sister, Mrs. J. C. Jensen of Colton, Calif.

HENRY THOMS
Neenah—Henry Thoms, 58, formerly of Neenah, died Saturday evening at Chicago, according to information received here by relatives. He is survived by the widow, two daughters and one son. He was at one time connected with the Kimberly-Clark corporation mills at Neenah and Niagara and was later employed by the Sears-Roebuck company at Chicago.

PLAN INCREASE IN HOSPITALS FOR VETERANS

One New Structure and Four Additions on Program for Northwest

Washington—(AP)—Veterans Administration Hines, chairman of the federal board of hospitalization, today announced recommendations of the board for a soldiers home unit in the northwest, one new veterans hospital and four additions to existing hospitals in northwestern states.

The recommendations entail a prospective outlay of $2,100,000 and the projects are intended to meet the needs of veterans in the northwest for additional hospital facilities.

1—That there be constructed in the state of Oregon south of Portland and west of the Cascade mountains a new soldiers home in the northwest to cost $1,000,000 with provision for further expansion.

2—That there be erected at U. S. Veterans hospital, American Lake, Wash., a new unit of 164 beds at a cost of $300,000.

3—That there be constructed at U. S. Veterans hospital, Boise, Idaho, a new infirmary building of 150 beds at a cost of $250,000.

4—That there be erected at U. S. Veterans hospital, Helena, Mont., a new infirmary building of 150 beds and a central heating plant at a cost of $300,000.

5—That there be constructed at U. S. Veterans hospital, Portland, Ore., a new administration building at a cost of $125,000 which will result in an increase at that location of 60 beds.

6—That there be erected at U. S. Veterans hospital, Walla Walla, Wash., a new kitchen and mess hall at a cost of $105,000.

203 COUNT HIGH IN COLUMBUS LEAGUE

Menasha—A 203 pin count, bowled by V. Sues of the Navigators, took high single game honors in Knights of Columbus league bowling on Hendy alleys Monday evening. The Navigators won two out of three games from the Ninjas. V. Pack was a close second with a 202 score, helping the Santa Maria team to win in two out of three tilts with the Shamrocks. The Alouzes took two out of three games from the Pintars, and the DeSotas dropped two out of three to the Admirals.

FISHING SHANTIES TAKEN OFF OF ICE

Menasha—With an early ice break up expected, nearly all the fish shanties owned by Twin City residents have been removed from Lake Winnebago. More than 35 shanties have been brought to shore during the past three days, according to reports.

Although nearly all the shacks on Lake Butte des Morts have been removed, several have broken through the ice and will not be salvaged until later.

GIVES BOYS RIDE; FINDS MONEY GONE

Menasha—After giving three young men a ride from Appleton to Menasha, $5 was missing from a purse in the rear seat of a car driven by G. Verhoven, Menasha, Tuesday evening, according to police reports.

Returning from a trip to Appleton Tuesday evening, Verhoven picked up three youths, roller skating toward Menasha. After discharging his passengers in Menasha the loss of the money was discovered. Police are investigating.

SELECT INVITATIONS FOR COMMENCEMENT

NEBRASKA CHILD STRANGLED

Deshler, Neb.—(AP)—Five-year-old Loretta Bartels was strangled to death yesterday in a corn crib on her parents' farm, where she had been hunting for eggs. As she reached for a nest a board fell and pinned her neck against the side of the crib. In her struggle she knocked down under her the box on which she had been standing.

When people declared they "do not care a fig" no reference to the fruit is intended. "Fig" is from the Italian word "figo," meaning a snap of the fingers.

VOTE PROBE OF CHARGES MADE IN EDITORIAL

Assembly Inquires Into Attack on Two Members in Utility Debate

sort before the house, there would not have been time for anything else. I do not approve of these gentlemen bothering the assembly with their personal difficulties."

A subsequent motion by Assemblyman Krez that the resolution be rejected was defeated 23 to 65. The vote for adoption was 62 to 22. Observing that Chapple was present on the floor, Speaker Charles Pury emphatically ordered him to leave as he was believed to be a registered lobbyist. Chapple, addressing the chair, said he was not a registered lobbyist. Pury objected to the counter and ordered the sergeant-at-arms to immediately eject the editor.

Uphold Perry Ruling
At this point, Assemblyman Krez, arising on personal privilege, said he had been assured that Chapple was not a registered lobbyist, and asked the assembly to override the decision of the chair. The speaker's ruling was upheld 69 to 8.

The assembly anticipated turmoil on the floor when Chapple, appearing a half hour before the session was called, personally distributed booklets containing his objections to the government ownership power program.

He told the Associated Press that he came to Madison today to make a personal effort to secure a hearing before the entire assembly explaining northern Wisconsin opposition to the program.

"I am here because of a suggestion by Assemblyman Groves that if I wanted to appear before the assembly as a committee of the whole that I had better see Assemblyman about it," he said.

"Recently number of northern Wisconsin residents, including myself, appeared before the assembly committee on taxation to protest the Groves bill. We feel that it is unfair and vicious in its discrimination against northern Wisconsin, and that if it becomes a law it will stifle further development of our region and probably drive out the inhabitants."

"Assemblyman Hild had to stop me several times while I was making my argument. Mr. Groves sat as a member of the committee in silence, but he took the first opportunity after the northern Wisconsin representative senators had left Madison, to defend his confiscatory measure in a public talk."

ST. THOMAS SCOUTS TO HOLD WEEKLY MEETING

Menasha—Troop 3, St. Thomas Episcopal scouts, will meet in the church parlors Tuesday evening. Sheboygan in First Game Friday

Kaukauna—Winning the last two games of the season, the Kaukauna Vocational school quintet have been selected to compete in the district tournament at Green Bay next Friday. Kaukauna is scheduled to play Sheboygan in the opening game at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Other teams in the tourney are Green Bay, Manitowoc and Oshkosh and Two Rivers. Green Bay will play Manitowoc and Oshkosh will play Two Rivers in the Friday games.

The trade school five went to De Pere Monday afternoon to play a practice game with a team from that city. Another practice will be held before the game Friday. Trophies will be awarded to the three winning teams in the tournament.

Those who will represent the local school will be VanDrusek, Smith, Lennert, Busse, Reuter, Welhouse and Smith. The tournament games will close the season for Coach B. D. Rice's quint.

RAILING SOUGHT FOR LEGION WALL

Would Serve as Ornamentation as Well as Safeguard, Says Mayor

Kaukauna—Railing from the old Lawest bridge, which will soon be raised to be replaced with a new $209,000 structure, may be used along the rapids of the Fox river along Oak-st on the wall built by the American Legion, Mayor Fargo stated Monday.

The mayor will attempt to make arrangements with the Meyer Construction company, which secured the contract for the new bridge, to use the railing for this purpose. He also will ask the state-highway department if the city can have the old railings.

Mayor Fargo pointed out that the railing would be ornamental as well as a safeguard. The matter of erecting a railing along the river wall was discussed several times by the council last year, but no action was taken because of the cost of the project.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Kaukauna Elks will celebrate St. Patrick's day with a party Tuesday evening in the hall on Second-st. There will be dancing. Refreshments will be served.

BREAKS INTO STATION

Kaukauna—Andrews Oil station on Lawest was broken into Monday night, but only a few gum balls were stolen, according to a report given to police. A small window was broken.

CATTLE FOR EXHIBITION MUST PASS BLOOD TEST

Madison—Petitions from three breed associations have resulted in an order by the commissioners of agriculture and markets that all cattle shown at the 1931 Wisconsin State Fair must have passed the blood test for abortion, announces Ralph E. Ammon, manager of the state fair.

Wisconsin Guernsey, Jersey, and Holstein breed associations have all filed petitions with the commission approving the abortion test for all cattle. These breeds represent about seven-tenths of all cattle shown at the state fair, according to Mr. Ammon. As a result of these requests also the cattle sales which have been conducted at State Fair Park will be discontinued and no cattle will be permitted on the fair grounds during the summer. This move together with the requirement that only tested cattle be shown at the fair will assure exhibitors against danger of getting abortion in their herds through showing at the state fair, announces Dr. W. W. Wisnicky, director of livestock sanitation.

BULLETIN POINTS OUT HEALTHFUL QUALITY OF MILK

State Circular Shows Need for Children to Drink More Milk

BY W. F. WINSEY

In a circular entitled, "Milk Every Meal, Morning, Noon and Night," issued by the extension service of the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, Miss Gladys Stillman, food specialist, points out the kind of food that makes kittens and puppies grow, and recommends the same kind for children, three times a day.

"Most of you have pets of some kind," writes Miss Stillman. Perhaps you have noticed how food makes a difference in the way kittens and puppies grow. If a pup is given all the milk he wants, he will grow big and strong. Without it he may be undersized and weak.

"Milk has the same effect on children. We choose food carefully for our pets and give them the kind that will help them to grow and be strong and happy. So children, too, should have the proper food. It makes a great difference in their growth, health and happiness.

"What are the things which their food must contain in order that children may build strong bodies as they grow, and to keep them healthy?"

"First of all, there must be the material which builds the muscles and tissues. This is called protein. Then there must be mineral matter which builds bones and teeth and keeps the body regulated and in good running order. Children also need the materials called sugar and fat, which furnish energy, so that they do not tire easily at work or play. These help to keep the body warm, too. In order to grow and keep well the body also needs the material called vitamins.

Milk Real Food

"Nature has given to milk more of the things which our bodies need than to any other food. Whole milk is our best all-around food. It is the one food which no other food can replace.

"Milk is especially good for children, because they are still growing and must build strong, healthy bodies. A cup or glass of milk at each meal is the least that any child should drink. Four glasses a day are still better. The best rule is a quart of milk a day for every child and a point for every grown-up.

"Football and base ball players drink a great deal of milk for it is one of the best of all muscle building foods.

"There are different kinds of protein, the material which builds the muscles and tissues, and repairs those that are torn down each day while we are working or playing. The best of these is found in milk.

"A good set of teeth is a great aid to health and beauty. Teeth must be properly nourished just like other parts of the body and the minerals in milk—iron, calcium and phosphorus—help to build them and keep them strong.

"How much better anyone looks with a straight back and straight legs. Milk contains much calcium, which is necessary for strong, straight bones.

"Milk also furnishes the minerals which are needed for the beating of the heart and the making of good blood.

"As you all know, an automobile needs fuel to give it the power to make it go. Children also need fuel so that they can run and jump and play.

"We find in milk a good supply of fuel foods, sugar and fat, which also help keep the body warm.

"An automobile must have an electric spark before it will run. Just as without the spark the fuel will not burn and the machine stops, so without vitamins in order to grow and keep well, most of the vitamins are found in whole milk.

"Builds Bone, Muscle

"Whole milk is the one single food that has in it all these materials. It can help us to build bones, and teeth, muscle and blood, and to grow and keep well.

"Because milk has in it the materials which help to keep the body in a good healthy condition and to protect us from sickness, it is called a 'protective food.' Milk must be taken in sufficient amount—a quart a day for every child and a pint for every grown-up, the rule says.

"Have you ever tried flavoring milk with some fruit juice which you like particularly well, such as apricot juice or peach juice? A little vanilla and sugar added to milk makes a delightful drink. Cold or hot milk made from milk is always good.

Malted milk is another way to enjoy milk. Most boys and girls will find some way that they can drink milk. When Lindberg reached Paris, they say that his first request was for a glass of milk.

"You not only drink milk as a part of your meals, but you eat milk in other foods such as: cream soups, creamed or scalloped meat or vegetable dishes, mashed vegetable dishes, cereals cooked in milk instead of water, milk toast and creamed milk toast, eggs scrambled with milk, or poached in milk; custards, bread pudding, blanc mange, ice cream, milk sherbets, bread, cakes cookies and muffins.

POPPLE TREES ON SAND OF NO VALUE

Specialist Says Owners
Would Do Better to Plant
White Pine or Spruce

Madison—That popple trees growing on sand are worthless now and will still be worthless a hundred years from now is the statement made by William Morris, timber specialist of the economic land inventory of the department of agriculture and markets. Popple has some use as fuel, Mr. Morris says, but owners of popple stands will do best to underplant with white pine and white spruce.

Popples is of little value in the timber trade, according to the specialist. He states that it is useful only for excelsior and to a certain extent for pulp wood and matches. As popple seed is very light, winds carry it for miles, Mr. Morris says. On areas swept by fire popple therefore comes up readily and many persons are apt to believe that their holdings will be reforested in this fashion. But popple thrives best only on the best land and in many sandy areas it has come up on areas that once produced 40,000 to 50,000 board feet of lumber per acre of pine and spruce. Popple is very susceptible to a number of diseases and the same land devoted to popple will produce only $120 worth per acre as compared to $600 per acre for pine.

At the present time about one-third of the cut-over land in upper Wisconsin is growing nothing but popple, Mr. Morris says. Where the popple stand is under 50 per cent underplanting can be carried on successfully, but where popple is too thick, it should be thinned down.

One of the best trees to use for reforestation is white spruce. White spruce is more tolerant of shade than white pine and makes a very

TITLE CHANGE AMONG LEADERS OF TOURNAMENT

Appleton Lion Bowlers Take Alleys Tonight in State Meet

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—There were no serious upsets in the Lions bowling tournament during the past week. Steve Lions of Oshkosh, with 2747, still are in first place in the five man events. The Northenders of Wausau who bowled last week knocked down 2471 pins to push the Appleton team out of fourth place. No changes occurred in the double-ends, the 1144 score of Kuehn and Bucher still leading. H. Sell of Wausau got into the all-events running with a 1665 score. He is tied with Reichel of Shawano. Sell also got into the high singles column when he shoved over 243 pins. This gives him third place.

This afternoon two teams from Green Bay are shooting on the alleys, while this morning four of Appleton's best are set to blow the leaders out of their places. On Sunday morning and afternoon three teams from Fond du Lac will go on the alleys, while two Rivers also is sending up one team to roll on the same day. According to tournament officials this week and next will about see the close of the contest.

The Interfactory league composed of Bordens, Cristys, Hamiltons and the Plywood will lay off for one week and resume their schedule next week Tuesday evening. They relinquished their turn at the alleys to allow Appleton teams to roll on Tuesday evening.

MRS. WALKER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The death of Mrs. Everett Walker, 41, occurred Sunday night at her home in Northport. She had been in ill health for a number of years. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday at the Northport Methodist church, with the Rev. A. W. Snesby of New London in charge.

Mrs. Walker was born in October, 1889, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Locks. Following several visits to homes of friends in Northport, she became acquainted with Mr. Walker, and after he took her to Chicago, where they remained for a year before returning to Northport to make their home. Mrs. Walker is survived by her husband, her father, one daughter, Doris 12, and four brothers, Louis, Charles, Max and Clare Locks of Fond du Lac. Burial will be in the Ostrander Northport cemetery.

Cow Kicks Gas Lantern; Fire Damage Is $1,500

Black Creek—Shades of the "Great Chicago Fire." A frisky cow and a gasoline lantern. Result—a fire on the Alfred Piechocki farm near here with damage to a large barn and farm machinery estimated at $1,500.

The fire started at 9 o'clock last Friday evening while Mr. Piechocki was working in the cow stables, which was set on the concrete floor behind one of the cows.

A pair of flying cow's heels turned the lantern over and it exploded, igniting a quantity of hay and the wood framework.

The village fire department was summoned, but the blaze had gained considerable headway. Most of the barn and machinery was destroyed, but the cattle were saved. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Friends surprised Mrs. Russell Huse Sunday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. Guests were Messrs and Mesdames Christ Fahley, Donald Lepp, Hortonville, Bernard Marcks, Oscar Barthel, O. H. Kingle, J. H. Wolstegle, Orville McNeish.

Miller Cords Close Pro Basketball Season Here Tonight

MEET CHILTON AND SLINGER AT ARMORY G

Winner of Double Bill Will Claim State Basketball Title

THE curtain will be rung down tonight on professional basketball when the Miller Cords, Appleton, play two games on the "armory" floor. The first of the evening's battles which are carried as championship games will begin at 7:30.

Chilton Eagles of Chilton will battle the Cords in what is the first twin bill never presented by a single team here. The Eagles and Cords staged a great battle at Chilton several weeks ago and indications are they again will give the fans a treat.

The second game of the evening is between the undefeated Slinger Athletic Club team, a squad which has met and defeated everything in the last two or three years and which boasts a string of 37 victories. It will be the first meeting of the Slinger team and the Cords.

The former Lawrence college cagers will make their debut with the Cords tonight. They are Hayward Biggers captain of the Vikings and a star forward, and Kenneth Laird, center. Both men are seniors are Lawrence and having finished their collegiate careers in sports have decided to cast their fortune with the pros.

Other Lawrence members of the Cord squad are Frank Scheller, center, Jerry Slavic a guard or forward, and Zeke Remmel, also a forward. The remainder of the team will be composed of men all well known in Appleton pro cage circles.

The first game of the evening will be handled by "Cuffs" Lutz while William Pickett will blow the whistle in the second game.

A dance is scheduled to follow the basketball games.

Training Camp Notes

ENSACOLA, Fla.—(P)—Muddy Ruel, Red Sox catcher, says that "ball players are a lot of snakes in the grass." Muddy's philosophy comes of acting as arbitrator on the base lines. He's been convalescing with a split finger and he's not at all fond of his umpiring job. He adds that how Tom Connelly can keep his sweet disposition is "one of the sweet mysteries of life" and Muddy "doesn't want to solve it."

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(P)—No more top-heavy schedules of spring exhibition games for the Braves. Manager Bill McKechnie says that they sure help to reduce training expenses but these heavy schedules of exhibitions are a big handicap to a team's development.

Playing such clubs as the Yankees, Athletics and Cards every day is too much of a hardship for my regular pitchers," the tribeman manager says, "and doesn't afford the rookies a real chance to show what they can do."

West Palm Beach, Fla.—(P)—Infielder Lin Storti, up from the Texas league, has added one more problem to the already sizeable supply of manager Bill Killefer of the St. Louis Browns.

Storti had about decided on Oscar Miller for second, Jim Levey for short and "Red" Kress for third, but Storti has been doing so well at all three places lately that skipper Bill doesn't know what he'll do about it. Among other things, Killefer is considering shifting Kress back to short and sending Storti to third, leaving Levey for No. 1 position on the bench.

Brandon, Fla.—(P)—Despite a denial from the "big boss," members of the St. Louis Cardinals, especially the outfielders, wondered today whether a deal between the Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds was in the making. Manager Dan Howley of the Reds visited camp yesterday, supposedly in search of an outfielder. President Sam Breadon of the Cards said no deal was pending, but that failed to keep the players from speculating a bit.

San Francisco—(P)—One of those California-Florida climate feuds is threatening to embroil manager Jewel Ens of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

California thumbed figurative suspenders upon hearing that Ens has built up outfielder Lloyd Waner's weight by having him take sun baths. For that matter, outfielder Adam Comorosky, pitcher Charley Wood and others have been prescribed the same tonic.

But here's the rub—Ens says he got the idea at Palm Beach.

Biloxi, Miss.—(P)—The pitchers already have been selected for the Washington Senators' game tomorrow at Gulfport with the Baltimore Orioles—Carl Fischer, Lynn Griffith and Wally Tauscher. They did the mound work in the first game with the International leaguers satisfactorily enough, although two errors let the Orioles win with a five-run rally in the eighth.

WOLVERINES, DELTAS WILL CLASH TONIGHT

Wolverine and Delta H-Y basketball teams will meet Tuesday evening in the first of a two game series to decide the elimination tournament winner. The boys will play two games if the Deltas win the first one. If the Deltas lose, the tournament will come to a close.

The winner of the final round will meet Sam Ornstein Special in a later game to decide the champion of the older boy group of the F. M. C. A. The games will be played in the association gymnasium.

And So The Season Ends--

The following telegram was received from C. E. Forsythe, Lansing, Mich., secretary of the Michigan interscholastic athletic association Saturday morning:

"Bruce Baesler, Menominee, Mich., not registered as basketball official. Was registered in football only last year."

And at the insistence of Marinette authorities that Baesler was registered and after giving date of his alleged card this telegram was received:

Gordon McIntyre, Sports Editor, Appleton Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis. Bruce Baesler is registered as he claims. Error in this office due to double blanks having been filed in separate paper. Sorry for inconvenience.

C. E. Forsythe.

And thus closes the 1931 basketball season for Appleton high school and the argument over Friday night's game at Marinette.

MARQUETTE PLANS FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Golden Avalanche Will Get Month's Drill Climaxed by Game

Milwaukee—Although no definite date has been set as yet for 1931 spring football practice at Marquette university, Coach Frank J. Murray already is making elaborate plans for his tenth year in charge of the Golden Avalanche.

Opening of spring drill this year depends altogether on weather conditions, and it is expected that the call will be issued before the end of this month. Plans for earlier practice had been made, but a March snowstorm postponed the arrangements.

Coach Murray and his assistant, Line Coach John L. (Tarzan) Taylor, will conduct all spring drill sessions on the Marquette stadium field, and intensive drills will be held at least for a month. The climax will be a regular game between two picked groups and varsity veterans now in school, but ineligible for competition have threatened a challenge.

Spring practice at Marquette this year will be the most important in the history of the school. Heavy losses by graduation and the three-year rule, plus the wholesale cleaning out of students scholastically deficient have hurt football prospects, and Murray wants to muster all the grid material possible to see what the chances are for the fall campaign.

The first week of practice will be devoted to fundamentals, the second to play and signals, and the last two to scrimmage and actual competition. Marquette's 1931 team will not have a captain. A field leader will be named before each game.

Among the players was Charles McKenney, Jimmy McKenney, August Brandt and Frank Crowe. Crowe, former assistant pro at Butte des Morts, had an 82 while Jimmy McKenney did likewise. There was a bit of snow on the course early in the morning but it was gone by noon.

No Indication Of Break Between Irish, Trojans

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS
COPYRIGHT 1931

CHICAGO—(P)—Knut Rockne, so it is said, already is giving consideration to Notre Dame's 1932 football schedule. That is of considerable interest to many colleges and particularly to Southern California.

Ever since Notre Dame gave the Trojans such a relentless shellacking last December, there have been rumors of an impending break between the two schools, after the 1931 game at South Bend. Numerous vague reasons for such a rift have been given.

When Navy Bill Ingram was named head football coach at University of California the story sprouted that Rockne would supplant Southern California on his schedule with the Golden Bears. The long friendship between Rockne and Ingram was sufficient reason for such a belief.

But right now Southern California is fairly well satisfied that its game with Notre Dame, which began in 1926, will continue. During his recent visit to Los Angeles, Rockne was quoted as having said: "Our relations with Southern California always have been very pleasant."

May Play Both Teams

A very close friend of Rockne's has advanced the idea that Notre Dame may soon be playing both California and Southern California. Rockne seems to need a big intersectional home game each season if the Notre Dame stadium is to be filled at least once a year. None of Notre Dame's

APPLETON GOLFERS PLAY AT GREEN LAKE

Appleton golfers who annually are among the first to get in the initial round each season invaded Green Lake course Sunday and shot 18 holes. Among the players was Charles McKenney, Jimmy McKenney, August Brandt and Frank Crowe. Crowe, former assistant pro at Butte des Morts, had an 82 while Jimmy McKenney did likewise. There was a bit of snow on the course early in the morning but it was gone by noon.

NEW BALL WILL NOT CHANGE GAME—MACK

Fort Myers, Fla.—(P)—The new ball with the elevated stitching won't change the style of attack very much, in the opinion of Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics.

There is no sliding pit at the champions' camp and Mack is not stressing base-running because he thinks there will be no decided change in the attacking system this year. He looks for a lot of free swinging.

"I prefer the old-style method of attack—pitching where a stolen or an extra bag on a hit may mean victory," he said. "But I guess the fans want slugging. Because the new ball will be of no material physical aid to the pitcher in my judgment, but I cannot see that it will restore the mound duels and bring back the fine art of base-running. Not this year at least."

JONES, VON ELM WILL COMPETE FOR CHARITY

San Diego, Calif.—(P)—Bobby Jones, golfdom's king, will meet one of his greatest rivals of amateur days, George Von Elm, now a professional, in a charity exhibition match at the Agua Caliente golf club Monday, March 23.

Jones will pair with Leo Diegel, former professional golf champion, now pro at the Agua Caliente club, against Von Elm and Mortie Dutra, professional of the Virginia County Club, Long Beach.

The match will be 18 holes. Proceeds will be devoted to charity, part going to fund created in Atlanta by Jones for crippled children's hospital; half to charity in Los Angeles, California, and the rest to charity here.

SPEED BOAT DRIVERS GATHER IN FLORIDA

Miami Beach, Fla.—(P)—Speed-boat enthusiasts, from Gar Wood, king of American drivers, to pilots of the smallest outboard craft, were ready today for the first day's program of the annual Biscayne bay regatta offering 17 events.

Wood planned to drive his Miss America IX, latest of a long line of Miss Americas, in a trial run against an airplane piloted by Duke Schiller as one of the features of the afternoon's program. Wood hopes to establish a new speed record with the Miss America IX, but has not set a definite time for the speed trial.

Cylinder trouble which developed during test runs last week caused the speedboat to stall. A new engine on the port side of the Miss America IX, but he announced his craft was in readiness for the run today.

MERCHANT BALL TEAM WILL MEET THURSDAY

Appleton Merchants, local representative in the Central Wisconsin Baseball league last season will meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 Thursday evening. The boys will discuss the outlook for 1931 and will consider joining either the C. W. league or one of the others in this section.

UNITED CIGARS LOSE TO BLACK CREEK FIVE

Black Creek basketball team defeated the United Cigar store team of Appleton, Sunday evening, 35 and 22. The score was 15 and 7 at half time with the Creek five out in front. George Stingel and R. Rohlf starred for the Villagers and Swede Johnston and Tip Reetz for the Cigars.

The Villagers now offer 70 per cent of the gate to any Appleton team that can beat the Creek five on its home floor. The loser will get 25 per cent of the gate. Any team, Knechtges and Bach, infielders; Merritt, outfielder; and Stolp, Kopan and Molinaro, pitchers.

AT LITTLE CHUTE

CLARENCE RHYNER

A double windup wrestling show will be held at Watry's hall, Little Chute Thursday. The bouts will feature Greg Hartjes of Little Chute versus Earl Otto, Appleton and Henry Verhoeven, Little Chute and Clarence Rhyner, Neenah. Rhyner, shown above, is billed as the Wisconsin light heavy champion. The first bout begins at 8:30.

White Sox Sure They'll Get Somewhere This Year

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
COPYRIGHT 1931

AN ANTONIO, Texas.—(CPA)—One year ago when the writer stopped at the training camp of the Chicago White Sox, he did not find all peace and harmony.

The Sox then had a new manager. They had a new training field. The players were forced to practice on the bone dry earth, and when it dried it is like adobe. Some of the players were holdovers, Lou Barbour, the secretary of the club, long remembered to take everything as it came, was about the only one of the party unperturbed.

This year things are different. The Sox think they are going somewhere and they have started on their way with zeal. Not even the glances of flappers of San Antonio have any charm for the White Sox players. They are sure they can finish in the first division, and the energy of manager Donie Bush has so permeated camp, that even the flame of the stove in the training camp burns higher as it dries the damp sweat shirts.

There are two teams of the western section of the American league who are sure they can beat the Yankees in the race. There may be a third, for Cleveland may add itself to Detroit and Chicago.

Both Chicago and Detroit players seem to believe that Philadelphia and Washington will remain in the first division, but as for New York, the answer is no pitchers and no infield. Besides they believe the home run prophecies of Babe Ruth are wanting.

It is the first in five years that such sacreligious conversation has been heard on the part of the western teams of the American league. Heretofore they have hardly dared to peep when New York was mentioned.

Team Has Improved

The White Sox have done this: They have improved the catching department. They are not enrolling Alce Berg among those counted on, and are satisfied with what they have in Bennett Tate, obtained from Washington, and with Butch Henline, who is returning to the majors from Toledo.

Grube, obtained from Buffalo, rounds out the catching end.

They have a better infield, and merely ask time to prove it.

The outfield appears stronger, but the pitching is the bright spot of all, according to present indications. Much dependence is placed on the ability of Victor Frasier, the rookie secured from Dallas, and the return of pitching prominence of Tommy Thomas.

The team as a whole displays a finer spirit, and with a brilliant manager, who plays ball in his sleep, it will be hard to keep every man from busting out of Donie Bush wherever he has hustling. Hustle has been the long been called to act as manager.

The White Sox are as good in their present spring condition as any team encountered with the exception of the Cubs. It would be queer if these Chicago clubs should gather in the fall to play the world's series. The spirit is there, and only good fortune and good playing can do the rest.

FRENCH BIG THREAT AT INDOOR NET MEET

Frank Shields, Berkeley Bell, Cliff Sutter American Hopes

New York—(P)—The national indoor tennis singles championship was in the third round today with the three-fold French threat just as potent as it was when the tournament began last Saturday.

Jean Borotra, Christian Boususs and Pierre Landry, forming the French contingent, have played a total of only twelve sets in eliminating but two matches and won them both in straight sets.

Their next tests, however, promise to demand a little more effort on the part of the invaders. Boususs meets William Aydelotte, of New York, who won the championship in 1928; Borotra, three-times winner of the title, engages Edward W. Burns, of New York, who yesterday put out the seeded player, Donald Cram of Nashville, Tenn.; and Landry faces the veteran New Yorker, Herbert L. Bowman.

The chief American hopes, Frank Shields, Berkeley Bell and Cliff Sutter, also reached the third round although Sutter had to travel three sets to eliminate E. Ramey Donovan yesterday.

To make room for the start of doubles competition, only two singles matches were on today's program. Borotra battling Burns in one and Shields facing Mitchell M. Rosenthal of New York university in the other.

Twenty-four teams have entered doubles play. The four seeded teams were Borotra and Boususs, Landry and Sutter, Bell and Merritt C. Cutler, and Aydelotte and Perrino Rockefeller.

WISCONSIN NINE USES THE NEW FIELDHOUSE

Madison—University baseball players took their first workout in the new Badger field house last week and although they did not have the use of all its spacious interior, all agreed that it is a vast improvement on the dingy old gymnasium annex which has housed their indoor practice for more than 15 years.

Coach Guy S. Lowman divided his squad and took only 18 players to the field house, leaving the remainder of the outfit to work out in the annex under the direction of Ivy Uteiz, assistant coach. The 18 who were promoted to the field house assignment were Griswold, Rhodes and Smithgall, catchers; Schneider, Culsinder, Schendel, Ferris and Plankey, infielders; Winer, Gilbertson, Fries, Poser and Lusby, outfielders; and Summerfield, Stoddard, Anderson, Kirkpatrick and Kelleher, pitchers. Poser and Lusby will also get a chance at mound work, Griswold, Schneider, Poser, Lusby, Summerfield and Captain Winer are veterans.

Those left to work in the annex are Ross, De Haven, Wickman, Annex, Knechtges and Bach, infielders; Merritt, outfielder; and Stolp, Kopan and Molinaro, pitchers.

CRY OF OVEREMPHASIS NOT NER IN SPORTS

Madison—(P)—The subject of "overemphasis" in athletics, because of so much controversy in educational circles of late, is new in name only, says Major John L. Griffiths, Western conference athletic commissioner. It has existed for 30 years he added.

Addressing the heads of the University of Wisconsin athletic department and members of the varsity track team yesterday, the commissioner said:

"College athletics are commercialized in the same manner as hospitals and churches are commercialized. It takes money to run them."

He spoke of the Big Ten as "simply a machine," and his own part in its athletic affairs as simply that of a small cog whose duty it is to keep the wheels of the machine going.

JIM LONDOS DEFENDS HIS WRESTLING TITLE

Milwaukee—(P)—Jim Londos, claimant to the world heavyweight wrestling title, defeated Fritz Von Mier in straight falls in a match at the Eagles club last night.

Londos, using an "airplane spin," pinned the German the first time after 20 minutes and 20 seconds of tugging and hauling. The second fall came from a body slam.

In the preliminaries, Kola Kwarlar pinned Hans Bauer in 24 minutes. Hans Steinko dropped Buzz Kautley in 20 minutes, 20 seconds. Karl Pofjello and Fred Brodzewicz went 30 minutes to a draw.

Travea Waner, cousin of Paul and Lloyd Waner, big league players, is an independent basketball star in Oklahoma.

One athletic exhibition, featuring wrestling, attracted more customers at Amarillo, Tex., than three grand opera programs.

Spring football practice at Oklahoma A. & M. drew 75 candidates.

CHAFF 'N CHATTER

Random Notes of A Baseball Traveler

CLISE Dudley is a young man with an ideal, and is not a bit bashful in telling you what it is.

His ideal is Walter Johnson. Dudley was pitching for a high school team in South Carolina when a scout for the Senators picked him up. The day after commencement he reported to the Nats.

Walter Johnson took the youngster under his wing and taught him but few things about the big leagues. Dudley of course was farmed out. But for three years in the training camp, he received the benefit of Johnson's patient instruction.

Dudley finally came up to Brooklyn and was traded to the Phils during the winter, along with Jim Elliott, for Thompson and O'Doul.

Healthy?

The rumor has been heard in the Florida training camps several times this spring that George Earnshaw was slightly under the weather, and that was the reason Connie Mack sent him early to Hot Springs.

One of the newspapers, at Bradenton told Gaby Street he heard Big George was not in the best of health.

"Say," replied Street with his characteristic vehemence, "that fellow is all right. I never saw a healthier man in my life than he was in that world series last October."

"That world series took me back 25 years. George was Old Matty out there, just as Matty was in his prime, over and over again, every move that he made."

Concerning Hands

Will the new baseball, with its raised seam, hurt the hand of Lefty Grove? For years Grove has had painful callouses on his two pitching fingers. A recurring blood blister on his index finger has troubled the southpaw since his days with Baltimore. Sometimes he isn't bothered by it for a month at a time, and occasionally it becomes so painful that he cannot use his hand more than three innings.

Will the raised seam aggravate Grove's condition? There are managers who probably are mean enough to hope that it will.

And Infielders

Jim Bottomley says the new ball may cut the hands of infielders a bit. "A lot of infielders have holes in the center of their gloves," Jim told me, "and those rough seams are apt to hurt some of them."

By the way I noticed a bulletin in the dressing room of the Cardinals at Bradenton, which read: "To toughen the hands, use liniment of benzoin." Gaby Street's taking no chances on torn hands.

By Percival Christopher Wren. Author of MYSTERIOUS WAYE BEAU GESTE BEAU IDEAL

SYNOPSIS: Dr. Charters has every reason to regret the presence of John Wayne as a patient in his nursing home. Solely because he knows criminal facts about the doctor, the stranger has been admitted to obtain for himself an alibi for the murder of "Spider" Schlitz, one of Charters' confederates in a big diamond haul in America. Wayne repulses a pistol attack by Charters' right hand man, Mr. James, and then causes a rift between Charters and his associate, Dr. MacAdoo, whose evil past he also knows, by telling the latter to demand of Charters a half share of the "Lauderdel 10,000 pounds." This involves an attractive patient, Marjorie Lauderdel, whose aunt was a companion of Charters' gangster days. Charters, enraged and startled when MacAdoo asks a bigger "cut" in the Lauderdel business, demands the source of his information.

Chapter 18
TEN THOUSAND REASONS
Dr. Charters, bending over his seated partner, heavily pressed Dr. MacAdoo backward into the chair with the ruler, and stared into his eyes.

"Who told you about the 10,000—reasons?"

Dr. MacAdoo blinked, the pressure of the end of the ruler increased against his heart, and he tried to withdraw his eyes from the hypnotic gaze that held them.

"Do I get my share?"

"You do."

"How much?"

"Er—half."

"On your word of honor?"

"Half. On my word of honor. Who told you the fee was ten thousand?"

"This man Wayne."

"What?"

"This man Wayne. And he told me to tell you I ought to get my share."

Dr. Charters sat down in his chair, passed his hand across his face, and then rested his brow upon the hand as he stared in fear and amazement at Dr. MacAdoo.

Marjorie Lauderdel, sitting at her window, listless, unhappy, resentful, pondered the implications of the peculiar conduct of this strange person, Mr. Wayne. For his conduct had been peculiar with regard to herself, quite apart from the amazing eccentricity of his general behavior.

On first catching sight of her, he had looked at her in an extraordinary manner; had called her "Rosemary"; and it had seemed as though he were going to come—and kiss her, greet her by her own name—as if he already knew her. . . . Or was it as though she reminded him of somebody?

Of course she wasn't either well or happy; and of course she wanted help and advice—more than anything else in the world.

And yet what else could one say or do when a perfect stranger, supposed to be mad, came and uttered mysterious warnings against taking the medicine that was prescribed for one in an excellent and famous Nursing-Home?

She did want help and advice. That horrible James man! . . . What she wanted, more than anything, was help to get away from the place, for there was not a soul in it that she liked or trusted. Not even the Head Sister, Nurse Weldon, though she liked her brother. Would Sister Weldon take her to see him, and would the Doctor let her go?

Marjorie was all right, of course, but one only saw her at meals, and now that they were keeping one upstairs so much, one hardly saw her at all.

How foolishly she had behaved when Mr. Wayne came and walked up and down on the lawn beneath her window and looked up at her from time to time. Why had she withdrawn in that childish way?

If he would only come along now—she would call out to him and have a chat.

But how could two people "chat" at the top of their voices, one standing with his head bent back, and the other hanging over a window-sill?

Still it would be nice to see him. His face was so strong and he looked so forceful and firm and reliable. She had been a goat not to jump at the friendship he had tried to offer. A real friend was exactly what she needed.

Suppose he went away, and she was left here alone, without a single person—whom she liked and trusted—to talk to, to tell that she believed that her "illness" was actually due to the medicine that was being given to her, that she believed her letters were withheld from her, and that she did not believe that the letters she posted downstairs were even sent out of the house?

If she did get a chance to speak to him again, and told him all this, would he laugh at her, refuse to take her seriously, and say he could not help her—simply because there was no occasion or need for any help?

No. He had been sane enough when he had said, "Never take any medicine here. None whatever—no matter what it is—unless Dr. Studley gives it to you. Insist on having him as your doctor."

He always looked at her so kindly, so understandingly, so meaningfully, as though he had something he wished to say to her.

Or was she becoming sentimental and imagining things about the man? Being kept here was enough to make the most sensible person sloppy and unstrung.

If only he would come along now, she would signal to him. And then what? Ask him to wait while she wrote a note that she would throw down to him.

She would write it now and have it ready.

"Dear Mr. Wayne," wrote Marjorie—

"I am very sorry that I was so rude when you wished to be helpful; and as I ridiculed the idea of needing any help, I want to apologize and to say exactly the opposite. I do want help, for I am getting frightened. It seems too silly to put into words, but I really believe that I am not really ill at all. I believe I was deliberately made 'ill' at home, and am being kept 'ill,' although I refused to have anything more to do with Dr. MacAdoo, and his medicine is just as bad, for I have felt worse each time I've taken it. I'm going to take your advice. I shall pretend to take it, but throw it away instead. But what shall I do if Nurse Jones or Sister Weldon stands over me?"

"I can't understand why I've had no answers from my uncle. I don't believe my letters have been posted—or else that his letters to me are stopped. Other letters, too, that I know should come in answer to mine. It sounds absurd and ridiculous, I know, but I can't help thinking it. I'm perfectly certain that Uncle Will would come here at once and kick up a frightful row if he knew how I feel."

"He's weak, and he's under Aunt's thumb, but he is quite kind always. What is most likely is that he has had my letter in which I begged him to come and fetch me but has also had one from Dr. Charters saying that he mustn't take any notice of my nonsense. Aunt Maud could easily persuade him that it would be very foolish to take me out of Dr. Charters' hands."

"Will you please forgive my rudeness and help me if you can?"

"Yours very sincerely,
"MARJORIE LAUDERDEL."

"Oh, Mr. Wayne, I'd give anything to get away from here. I do so loathe Nurse Jones—and that man James."

Marjorie sat at the window, hoping for sight of John Wayne; but it was not until the following morning, on one of her many excursions from bed to window, she saw him strolling on the turf.

Snatching her letter from its place of concealment, she waited until Wayne glanced up at her window as he passed. Beckoning, she dropped the letter to the grass some twenty feet below her window, and watched while John Wayne sauntered to the spot.

BADGER STATE HAS SMALLEST FAILURE RATE

Commercial Rating of Wisconsin Is Placed at High Mark

Madison—That Wisconsin has the lowest rate of commercial failures among states with 50,000 or more firms doing business is the statement just made by the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and United States department of agriculture. In agricultural production Wisconsin has 11 first places, nearly all of them allied to the dairy industry, and in commercial activities Wisconsin wins 15 first places among all states in the union. The state ranks third in motor vehicles as well as in horse drawn equipment.

In the agricultural production Wisconsin wins:

- First in cheese, producing nearly 64 per cent of the United States total of manufactured cheese. The output in 1929 was 305,172,000 pounds.
- First in condenser products, producing nearly one-third of the nation's output with a total in 1929 of 725,710,000 pounds.
- First in milk, with an annual production of 305,278,000 cwt., having a farm value of $227,232,558.
- First in canning peas, valued at $8,880,000 in 1930. Wisconsin puts up about half of the United States pea pack each year.
- First in number of dairy cow sales, 55,500 in 1930.
- First in manufactured dairy products of all kinds, valued at $259,544,000 in 1925.
- First in number of silos, with about 115,000.
- First in production of clover seed with 275,400 bushels in 1930 worth $3,140,000.
- First in cow-testing associations.
- First in production of clover hay, producing 1,191,000 tons in 1930.

The state ranks second place in the production of tame hay with 5,672,000 tons in 1930; second in all cattle with 3,120,000 head on January 1, 1931, valued at $163,648,000; second in cucumbers for manufacture with 17,300 acres in the crop.

Third place is listed for Wisconsin in live stock products valued in 1928 at $339,855,000; third in creamery butter with 155,315,000 pounds in 1929; and third in cranberries with 40,000 barrels in 1930.

The 15 first places which Wisconsin holds in the manufacturing industry are:

- First in the manufacture of excelsior.
- First in the manufacture of concrete mixers.
- First in the manufacture of ore crushers.
- First in the manufacture of horse blankets, fly nets and related products.
- First in the manufacture of saw-mill machinery.
- First in the manufacture of flax and hemp, dressed.
- First in the manufacture of bottle-cleaning machinery.
- First in the manufacture of stationary and portable internal combustion engines—(exclusive of motor vehicle engines).
- First in the manufacture of internal-combustion marine engines.
- First in motor vehicle engine: manufactured for sale to automobile builders.
- First in the manufacture of dredging and excavating machinery.
- First in manufacture of aluminum ware.
- First in manufacture of wrapping paper.

Has the lowest rate of commercial failures among states with 50,000 or more firms doing business.

Wisconsin built the first hydro-electric service station, (September, 1882).

Second places in manufacturing reach the total of 11:

- Second in the manufacture of food preparations.
- Second in manufacture of steam engines.
- Second in phonographs.
- Second in manufacture of tractors and traction engines.
- Second in the manufacture of plumbers' supplies.
- Second in the manufacture of puttmill machinery.
- Second in the manufacture of malt.
- Second in the manufacture of dairy machinery.
- Second in the manufacture of bottling machinery.
- Second in the manufacture of leather gloves and mittens.

The state is third in the manufacture of flavoring extracts and syrups; carriages, wagons and sleighs; saddlery and harness; in the manufacture of motor vehicles, and in refrigerating machinery and in newsprint paper.

Fourth places for Wisconsin are won by manufacturers of ice-making machines, knit goods, motor vehicle bodies, trunks and suit cases, dairy and dairy supplies; and fourth also in stamped and enameled wares.

PICK CHAMPION BABY
Chicago—(AP)—Marion Lee Foster, 6 months old, of Junction City, Kas., was selected as America's champion Farm Bureau baby from 10,554 pictures of farm babies submitted in the national contest sponsored by the American Farm Bureau federation, according to an announcement made by Sam H. Thompson, president of the national farm organization. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Foster, and the photograph was submitted by her grandfather, W. T. Foster of Kansas City.

Involving an endurance-mustache-growing test, it is provided, that the first one to cut his mustache must provide an evening's entertainment for the families of all three. In addition, the one of the trio that manages to show the best results will receive cigars from the other two. Judges in the contest have not yet been named.

U. S. SECRET SERVICE FINDS USE FOR PLANES

Washington — (AP)—The United States secret service has turned to the use of airplanes. Col. E. W. Starling, who has preceded the president on virtually every trip taken in the last 15 years, will fly from Miami to San Juan, Porto Rico, Wednesday morning in order to be on the island before the president arrives.

Two other secret service men will go by airplane to San Juan on Friday. They will travel on regularly scheduled planes of the Pan-American airways.

Wisconsin Girl is Rewarded

WHEN children are weak and run-down, they are easy prey to colds or children's diseases. So it is never wise to neglect those weakening and depressing symptoms, such as bad breath, coated tongue, fretfulness, feverishness, biliousness, lack of energy and appetite, etc.

Nine times out of ten these things point to one trouble—constipation. Mothers all around you are coming right out in public to tell how their children are being relieved of this trouble by California Fig Syrup.

Mrs. Earl Ketchum, 234 Twenty-Second St., Milwaukee, says: "Our druggist recommended California Fig Syrup so highly, I decided to give Catherine some, when I saw by her bad breath and coated tongue that she was constipated."

"She has been more than rewarded for taking Fig Syrup. It made her a well, happy girl promptly. I give her a little at regular intervals and it keeps her in good health."

The genuine, endorsed by doctors for 50 years, always bears the word California. All drugstores.

HOOVER SAILS THURSDAY TO VISIT ISLANDS

Expects to Board Battleship Arizona at Norfolk for Brief Voyage

Washington — (AP)—Aboard the rejuvenated battleship Arizona, President Hoover will embark Thursday on a 10-day vacation to Caribbean islands of sanguinary history, mystery and romance.

Leaving the capitol tomorrow night he expects to reach Norfolk Va. in time to have breakfast aboard the just-modernized battleship, which immediately will hoist anchor for Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

On the ship with the president are to be Secretaries Hurley and Wilbur, whose departments have jurisdiction respectively over Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Mr. Hoover has decided to spend the 10 days with her convalescent son, Herbert Hoover, Jr., at Asheville, N. C.

The first vacation the executive has taken in more than a year calls for a two-day stop in Porto Rico and a conference with Gov. Theodore Roosevelt. The party will make a motor trip across the small island to Ponce, named for the sealer of the fountain of youth, Ponce de Leon, one of the first explorers.

Visit Pirate Haunts
After Porto Rico will come the Virgin Islands, 80 miles east, sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth century centers of pirates who made life miserable for gold-laden Spanish galleons. There the president will confer with the new civil governor, Paul M. Pearson, and possibly inspect a St. Thomas castle built by Edward Teach, sea rover better known as "Blackbeard."

Outside of the two conferences, the time will be devoted to sightseeing, rest and relaxation. The party will include Lawrence Ritchey, one of the president's secretaries; Captain Joel T. Boone, White House physician; Col. Campbell Hodges and Captain Russell Train, military and naval aides, newspapermen and photographers.

On his return to Washington, President Hoover will begin preparation of eight speeches he plans to deliver between April 13 and June 17. Political significance has been attached to two of these, one before the international chamber of commerce in Washington on May 4 and the other before the Indiana Republican Editorial association in Indianapolis, on June 15. The latter group is one of the oldest strictly party editorial associations in the country, and the president's friends predict he will devote a goodly portion of his talk to political subjects.

Shortly after the president gets back, his new secretary, Theodore Joslin, appointed yesterday, will assume the post left vacant by the resignation of George Akerson, another newspaperman.

2 RADIO STATIONS START OPERATING ON SAME CHANNEL

Month Test of Network Synchronization Begins Today

Washington — (CPA)— "Network synchronization," radio's promising laboratory infant, stepped into the sphere of practical application on Monday when two pairs of high-powered stations begin operating on the same channels during regular program hours.

The National Broadcasting company, which just a few months ago proclaimed synchronization feasible—that is, the operation of more than one high-powered station on the same channel—will undertake these new tests. If markedly successful, a complete change in the makeup of chain broadcasting and as a matter of fact, all broadcasting, is predicted. Great networks of stations, each operating on a single channel, would result from perfected synchronization, and the extreme congestion in the broadcast band would disappear.

Stations WBAL in Baltimore and WTIC at Hartford, along with the two keys of the N. B. C. in New York, WEA and WJZ, are the pioneers in network synchronization. The federal radio commission has authorized these stations to conduct

Washington — (CPA)— "Network synchronization," radio's promising laboratory infant, stepped into the sphere of practical application on Monday when two pairs of high-powered stations begin operating on the same channels during regular program hours.

The National Broadcasting company, which just a few months ago proclaimed synchronization feasible—that is, the operation of more than one high-powered station on the same channel—will undertake these new tests. If markedly successful, a complete change in the makeup of chain broadcasting and as a matter of fact, all broadcasting, is predicted. Great networks of stations, each operating on a single channel, would result from perfected synchronization, and the extreme congestion in the broadcast band would disappear.

Stations WBAL in Baltimore and WTIC at Hartford, along with the two keys of the N. B. C. in New York, WEA and WJZ, are the pioneers in network synchronization. The federal radio commission has authorized these stations to conduct # the practical tests during regular program hours for one month, beginning Monday, with general authorization to follow if these final experiments are successful.

Permits Full Time

The two non-N. B. C. owned stations now divide time on the 1060 kilocycle channel. The immediate advantage of synchronous operation in their case is that they will be afforded full time operation. Under the plan, WBAL will synchronize with WJZ during the time it is not operated on 1060. Conversely, WTIC will Synchronize with WEA on alternate days, accepting the programs of that station. When one station is synchronizing, the other will operate full time on 1060 kilocycles.

By precise frequency control, the claims is that simultaneous operation of high-powered stations on the same channel, without ruinous interference, is entirely possible, although extraneous noises manage to creep into the programs. However, C. W. Horn, general engineer of the N. B. C., who has fathered the network's research, declares that this last obstacle now has been overcome through the development of a stabilizer which operates automatically.

An Important Message To All Appleton About "ILLCIT"

The Most Discussed Picture of the Year!

We offer "Illicit" with a combination of great interest and pride.

The comment which "Illicit" has aroused forces us to realize it is more than an effort at entertainment.

The story, which already has developed into an issue, is of a clean, healthy girl who prefers to live her romance strictly according to her own personal and unusual ideas.

We do not say this is true of our modern generation. Never-the-less that's the story of "Illicit."

We ask you — please, try to understand the spirit in which "Illicit" has been produced.

Once in a generation comes such a vehicle which surpasses the heights of entertainment to leave with you a startling impression that you will wonder over and discuss for many a day to come.

SECOND WOMAN VICE WITNESS DIES SUDDENLY

New York Authorities Probe
Mystery Death of Georgia Gray, Dancer

New York—(AP)—The death under mysterious circumstances of a second woman vice graft witness against police was being investigated today.

Miss Lucia Dickens, red-haired dancer who used the name of Georgia Gray, died Saturday night in Bellevue hospital after an illness of four days. Though the cause originally was diagnosed as pneumonia, Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner, ordered a chemical analysis of her organs to determine whether there were traces of poison.

Miss Vivien Gordon, Broadway butterfly, who accused Patrolman Andrew G. McLaughlin of framing her on a vice charge in 1923, was strangled to death on Feb. 26 and her slayer shot at large.

Under the name of Violet Smith, Dickens was taken to the hospital Friday from a W. 72nd-st. apartment, allegedly suffering from bruises and other ailments. She was identified by John A. Markey, an attaché of the district attorney's office.

As Georgia Gray, she testified in the perjury trial of Patrolman Leigh Halperin, who was acquitted, and was under $1,000 bond to appear against his partner, Daniel Sullivan. The policemen were associates of Harry Gibson, stool pigeon, she said, and had paid him to play the "unknown man" act in entrapping women. Gibson previously jumped $7,500 bail in Baltimore and is still missing.

The girl's grandmother, Mrs. R. E. Doolittle, said in Augusta, Ga., that Miss Dickens had written her for money several months ago, saying she wanted to return home because she was "tired of the crowd I am running with." She was informed of the death in a telegram signed only "H. C. Barber." She is on her way here to claim the body.

WOULD NAME GROUP TO STUDY WATERWAY

Bill Provides for Commission to Probe Feasibility of Plan

Madison—(AP)—The feasibility of connecting the Atlantic ocean with the Mississippi river by means of Wisconsin waterways will be studied by a commission if a bill now pending in the state legislature is adopted.

The senate committee on agriculture and labor introduced the bill. It authorizes the Wisconsin Deep Waterways commission to investigate the project of connecting Lake Michigan with the Mississippi river by way of Green Bay harbor, the Fox river and connecting waters and the Portage federal canal and the Wisconsin river.

Under authority granted by a past legislature, the commission has studied the feasibility of connecting the Great Lakes with the Atlantic ocean by means of Welland canal and the St. Lawrence river.

Ocean shipping of limited tonnage now arrives at various Wisconsin ports on Lake Michigan and if the water arteries of inland Wisconsin are opened, these ships could work down to the Mississippi and then down to the gulf. Under this plan several towns and cities far from the coast of either Lake Superior or Lake Michigan would become world seaports.

Opening of the St. Lawrence river for large ocean going liners has been the dream of civic leaders in many Wisconsin cities. Superior, at the head of the lakes, is especially desirous of becoming a seaport. With Duluth, Minn., the upper Wisconsin city has long carried on agitation for St. Lawrence project. The fight has been upheld by Milwaukee, Green Bay, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Racine and Kenosha, all large manufacturing cities on the Lake Michigan shore.

Members of the senate committee who want the Lake Michigan-Mississippi river link studied are V. S. Keppel, Holman, William Olson, Monro; Otto Mueller, Waupun; Elmer Hall, Green Bay; and Fred Zantow, Baraboo.

Irish Eyes Smile on St. Patrick's Day

"When Irish eyes are smiling—" Well, you can just bet your shamrock that these Irish eyes are smiling on St. Patrick's Day, for their possessors are Irish as their family trees go, and on both sides, too. The closeup of Maudie O'Sullivan, dainty film star who recently came to this country from Dublin, while the young lady with the Irish geranium is none other than Nancy Carroll, also of the movies, whose proud boast is that "my mother was born in County Roscommon and my father in County Clare."

Designer Of Lindy's Plane Engine Heads Air Industry

New York—(AP)—The designer of the airplane engine which carried Lindbergh to Paris is the new leader of aviation's trade association.

He is Charles L. Lawrence, new president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America, Inc., and associates regard his election as a tribute to his part in making possible the flights of Lindbergh, Byrd, Kingsford-Smith and other famous pilots.

Lawrence, however, sought no such honor, and when friends have lamented that he did not share Lindbergh's popular acclaim, he has asked them:

"Who ever heard the name of Paul Revere's horse?"

Lawrence formerly was president of the Wright Aeronautical corporation and later vice-president of the Curtiss-Wright corporation, but now heads his own research company.

While at a private school he started building an automobile which he finished while a freshman at Yale. The car was a success, boasting what was then a novelty, a standard gear shift and worm-and-sector steering gear.

His first venture in aviation was not with motors, but with a new type of wing designed to give more lifting power. Both England and Germany used the Lawrence wing design on many of their fighting planes during the World war.

Turning then to the problem of building a light, efficient engine which would not overheat, he succeeded, when he was 35 years old, in producing a three-cylinder-radial air-cooled engine of 60 horsepower which was the sire of the air-cooled engines which have since carried many aviation heroes to fame.

Lawrence succeeds Frederick B. Rentschler as president of the Aeronautical chamber.

FILE $25,000 CLAIM FOR ADMIRAL BYRD

Letter Basis for Action Against Estate of Late
Van Lear Black

Baltimore, Md.—(AP)—A claim for $25,000 has been filed here on behalf of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, it was disclosed Monday against the estate of the late Van Lear Black, publisher and aviation enthusiast.

The claim, filed in orphan's court, was based on a letter to Rear Admiral Byrd which was said to state that the publisher would donate $25,000 should there be a deficit following the Byrd airplane expedition to the Antarctic.

Mr. Black helped finance Byrd's flight to the North pole in 1926 but did not contribute toward the Antarctic expedition in advance.

After Van Lear Black's death last August in a fall from his yacht while at sea, attorneys for the executor of the Black estate learned of the letter to Rear Admiral Byrd and asked him to submit it to scrutiny.

They were convinced, it was said Monday, that the letter constituted a legitimate claim against the Black estate.

At a dinner here three years ago following Black's return from a flight to the Dutch East Indies, Byrd said that the publisher had made possible his flight to the North pole and presented a Maryland flag for Black to carry in his flights.

Language Of Fashion Is One All Of Its Own

How well do you speak the language of fashion? You may be able to speak to your waiter in French, converse with a professor in Spanish, swear at your daschund in German, and even work cross word puzzles like a wizard, but can you cope with sennelle, the halo fruit shades, charmeuse, panamalae? Perchance like most you are forced to sit silent and act like a man without country or a dog without its bark. When a group of women discuss the swept to the left movement, do you think it some new tactic of the national guard? This and many others are current expressions among those in the know.

expressions to which Webster, the encyclopedia nor even a thesaurus can give no inkling. Yet they are here, the nouns, adverbs and even the gestures of current fashion, in a language all its own. Listed you'll suddenly find that charmeuse and charmeuse are more than a slight slip of the tongue, indeed as far apart as camembert is from met-wurst. Here are some of the words:

Charmeuse—a straw used in hats; obsolete usage, material.

Chartreuse—the green shade that is just as yellow as it green.

Watteau—a hat shape that has a brim slightly uplifted from the crown.

Halo—the rolled trimming on turban hats that give the effect of a halo.

Fruit shades—another way of saying pastel, or light shades of blue, green, yellow, pink etc.

Panamalae—type of soft straw
